Board to Seek CPA Authority to Build 2 Schools

TWO TRAIN WRECKS KILL 33

Puts Roseland, W. Fifth Jobs First on List

Addition to Western Avenue Building Also on 'Must' List; Bids on Sale of Bonds to Be Opened Feb. 27.

Moving a little nearer the start of construction work on Mansfield's $2,000,000 school building program, the board of education last night authorized Glen L. Robinson, its business agent, to seek Civilian Production Administration authority to erect two new buildings and an addition to another.

The request, which probably will go to CPA with building sketches early in March, will seek permission to build the Roseland and West Fifth buildings and an addition to the Western Avenue building. Combined cost of the projects will be $608,325.

Architects' plans for the structures are expected to be ready within a few weeks.

Opens Bond Bids.

Bids on the $2,011,000 worth of bonds remaining to be sold to finance the big program will be opened by the board at noon Feb. 27.

The entire bond issue, amounting to $2,111,000, was approved more than a year ago. The board meeting previously sold $100,000 worth to pay for preliminary work on the projects.

The bonds will be issued in $1,000 denominations and will mature at the rate of $50,000 on April 1 and Oct. 1 annually from 1948 to 1967 inclusive, except that $51,000 worth shall mature on Oct. 1 from 1957 to 1967 inclusive.

A schools financial report, submitted last night by Board Clerk John H. Eisaman, showed that bonded indebtedness has been reduced from $986,000 in 1940 to $600,000 last year.

Board members will visit the proposed Roseland school site Friday morning to check on the need for an additional lot there. Herbert S. Jones, architect for the project, suggested that one more property to the north of the site be purchased to provide a sewer outlet.

MRS. ROESSEL DIES AT AGE 90

City's First Charity Nurse Earned the Affectionate Title of 'Mother.'

Mrs. Minnie Birmelin Roessel, 90, Mansfield's first charity nurse and pioneer welfare worker, died at 7 a. m. today in the Sanitarium-Hospital after an extended illness.

Mrs. Roessel was one of two Mansfield nurses who gave most of their time and much of their money in caring for the city's ill before the days of the Visiting Nurses' association. The other was the late Helen Hayden.

Mrs. Roessel earned the affectionate title "Mother" Roessel. She was said to have "mothered" more of the city's unfortunates during the years she served than any other person in the city. She began working as a nurse about 1893.

Retired At Age 77.

She continued to serve, often taking the sick and needy into her own home, until 1933, when she retired at the age of 77. For many years she was also relief officer for the Mansfield Humane Society.

Born in Baden, Germany, Aug. 8, 1856, Mrs. Roessel came to Mansfield 70 years ago, most of that time living at 402 Tremont street. She was a member of the St. John's Evangelical church.

Leaves Two Sons.

Mrs. Roessel leaves two sons, Louis of Kalamazoo, Mich., and Charles W. of Mansfield, and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Snyder of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Finefrock Funeral home with her pastor, Dr. Paul H. Saleste, in charge. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

WILSON GRANTED PAROLE HEARING

Although the Ohio Pardon and Parole commission has considered a parole for Charles A. Wilson, 34-year-old Mansfield man convicted of the 1936 first degree murder of Jean Moorhead, it has as yet taken no action, a commission spokesman told the News-Journal.

Wilson's name was absent from a list of prisoners to whom the commission announced today it had granted paroles.

Wilson appeared before the commission at its hearing at the London prison farm, where he is confined, last Thursday and Friday, the spokesman said.

"But no action was taken. The case is being held open for further study," the spokesman stated. No release of commission action on the Wilson case is expected before March 6, the spokesman said.

Wilson became eligible for parole consideration when former Governor Frank J. Lausche, two days before his administration expired, commuted his sentence to second degree murder.

Union Officials Vote Down Strike

CLEVELAND —(UP)— A vote against ordering sympathy strikes on Ohio Bell Telephone properties throughout the state indicated today the walkout of 700 employes in the Youngstown area would not spread to other municipalities.

Officials of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers (Ind.) late yesterday voted against the move as a protest of deadlocked negotiations concerning the Youngstown workers.

SMYTH DEFENDS ATOMIC REPORT

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Prof. Henry D. Smyth of Princeton university, author of the Army-approved Smyth report on "atomic energy for military purposes, says there are two major reasons for releasing some information about atomic energy, "at least to the degree that has been done."

Although he did not identify his statements as such, they apparently were in reply to an assertion by Bernard M. Baruch, who told the senate atomic committee two weeks ago that the Smyth report was "the biggest breach of security since the beginning of the (atom bomb) project."

"The first reason is political," Prof. Smyth declared in a statement released last night in conjunction with an address before the Western Reserve XI fraternity.

"The ultimate responsibility for our nation's policy rests on its citizens, and they can discharge such responsibilities wisely only if they are informed.

"I am not a political expert—but let me ask how we could attempt to set up national and international systems of control of atomic energy without telling the people what atomic energy is. It seems to be diffncult enough as it is, and I leave to your imagination to guess what would have happened if no information whatever had been released."

He said the second reason for release of some information on atomic energy was to "make this country strong in technology, which, in turn, depends heavily upon scientific research.

"Every piece of information that is withheld from these men and women," he continued, "will lessen their usefulness to the country in the future. This should always be borne in mind in a decision to withhold a piece of information. It is just as important as the other half of the question, which is, will the release of this information help out potential enemies?"

FUNERAL TIME SET

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Funeral services for Col. Earle I. Johnson, who was killed in the crash of his army transport plane Sunday, will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church here Wednesday. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Miller Advised By Physician To Take Rest

Acting on the advice of his physician, Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools has relinquished his duties for an indefinite period, he told the board of education last night in a written statement.

The superintendent left the city yesterday for a vacation trip during which he plans to rest and "forget work for a time," his office reported.

He designated Dr. Edwin Fensch, director of research in the city schools, and Glen L. Robinson, business agent, to handle administrative details during his absence. They will "adhere to the policies as set up by the board of education," he said. Robinson presented the superintendent's report to the board last night.

STRIKERS CAN BE REPLACED, BOARD RULES

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Labor Relations board posted fresh notices to unions—and to congress—today that workers who strike over wages and job conditions can be replaced without violating the Wagner Labor Relations act.

The board went even further in its decision involving two St. Petersburg, Fla., newspapers and declared that when a union itself doesn't bargain it can't charge the employer with failing to negotiate in good faith and hope to make the charge stick. Under the Wagner act only the employer can be penalized for refusing to bargain with his workers.

The decision that "economic strikes"—those who walk out over wages or working conditions—can be replaced legally is a restatement of previous NLRB policy. But a board spokesman told reporters that the agency is "hitting it hard" in this instance.

The unanimous ruling overturned the findings of an NLRB trial examiner, Thomas S. Wilson.

Broad Meaning.

Carried to its ultimate meaning, the decision affecting economic strikers would countenance the hiring of 400,000 new miners to replace John L. Lewis' soft coal diggers if they struck again only for higher pay or better working conditions. If they walked out because of an unfair labor practice by the operators, however, they could not be replaced.

As a practical matter, the first possibility scarcely could occur since it would not be profitable to replace such a large number of trained workers. Also the operators would be aware of the serious consequences that might result—possibly bloody union warfare.

In the St. Petersburg case the board said the employers—The Times Publishing Company, Evening Independent, Inc., and News Printing, Inc.—were within their rights in replacing more than 60 striking members of the AFL International Typographical Union.

OFFICIALS MUM ON WAGE MEET

Contract negotiators for the Westinghouse Electric corporation and the CIO-United Electrical Workers said last night they had "nothing to announce" after their first formal 1947 session, the Associated Press reported today.

While spokesmen of Local 711, UEW, in Mansfield reported Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, is attending the negotiation conferences, a spokesman for both sides in Pittsburgh said it was agreed that no news of the discussion would be made public "until a joint statement can be made."

Hawkins is expected back in Mansfield late tomorrow.

The UE, third largest CIO union, followed CIO President Philip Murray's example in the steel industry negotiations by naming no specific figures but asking for a "substantial wage increase."

Affected by the negotiations are about 75,000 workers in 58 UE-CIO units in 23 Westinghouse plants across the nation.

8 Deputies Appointed To Sell '47 Auto Tags

Eight deputy registrars to handle sales of 1947 license plates in Richland county were named today by State Registrar Edward T. Fogo of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Deputies for nearby counties also were announced.

Sale of the tags will start March 10, and the plates may be used immediately by purchasers. For the first time since 1942 motorists will be given two plates this year. Both must be on vehicles by April 1.

Deputy registrars appointed in Richland county are:

Mansfield—Jack Berger, Auto club.

Bellville—Mrs. Ellen Bowers.

Butler—H. D. Underhill.

Olivesburg — Mrs. Martha J. Hannifius.

Plymouth—Mrs. Florence B. Ervin, 59 West Broadway.

Shelby—Clarence S. Stroup.

Shiloh—George Page.

Lucas—Mrs. Mary Kochheiser.

Registrars appointed in Ashland county include: Ashland—W. C. Neely, 117 West Second street; Hayesville—Mrs. Helen Grady, Jeromesville—L. O. Franks; Loudonville—William O. Bunting, jr., 123 West Main street; Perrysville—Mrs. Marguerite Gladden; Polk—William E. Donley; Savannah—Mrs. Ina Lindsey.

In Knox county the following were named: Centerburg—Robert Hasson; Danville—E. J. Thorp; Fredericktown—Raymond Yost; Mt. Vernon—C. F. Allerding, Public Square; Mt. Vernon—A. A. Topp.

Berger and Allerding are the only registrars in their respective counties who handle truck and trailers plates.

BRITISH HOPE FOR MORE FUEL

LONDON—(INS)—Britons looked anxiously today for some relaxation in the nation's drastic fuel restrictions as a result of a scheduled meeting of the special coal committee which reports to the cabinet this afternoon.

Despite a continuance of severe winter weather, it was expected that the improved coal situation in which stockpiles at power stations have been considerably increased will permit some relaxation.

There was great hope that at least a date can be set for a partial switch-on or power to numerous industries which were forced to close down.

The populace had the added worry today of new shortages in most rationed foods. This situation followed the shutting down of canning and bottling plants. Reserve stocks were reported disappearing rapidly from grocers' shelves.

Hermit Leaves Money to Garbo

ALLEGAN, Mich. —(AP)— A British-born recluse with a secret admiration for Greta Garbo has left his entire estate, valued at $20,000, to the Swedish film actress.

Author of the will was Edgar H. Donne, whose death in his squalid one-room farm shack near here last October went unnoticed for several days. He was 70 years old.

SAYKO WINS PAROLE

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Steve Sayko, 27, Lakewood, serving a sentence for sex offenses, was paroled today from the Mansfield reformatory, effective April 24 by the state pardon and parole commission.

ASH WEDNESDAY RITES OPEN LENTEN SEASON

Lenten services officially will begin tomorrow as Ash Wednesday ushers in the annual six-week period of prayer and sacrifice.

St. Peter's Catholic church, St. John's Evangelical, Grace Episcopal and all Lutheran churches of the city will observe Ash Wednesday with ceremonies.

At St. Peter's, the distribution of ashes among worshippers will take place at 8: 15 a. m., followed immediately by solemn high Mass.

The solemn blessing of the ashes, obtained from the burning of the palms used in Last Palm Sunday services, will be observed in connection wtih the individual distribution.

Tomorrow night there will be a sermon and devotions. Because of Ash Wednesday, ashes will again be distributed to worshippers and Rev. Alphonse Hoffman, pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows church, North Auburn, will preach.

* * *

SERVICES WILL BEGIN at the Grace Episcopal church with Holy Communion at 7 a. m. At 10:30 a. m. Rev. Samuel U. J Peard will preside at the Service of the Ashes. Holy Communion again will be administered. At 8 p. m., there will be the reading of the Litany, with a sermon by the pastor.

Services at St. John's, First English Lutheran and St. Luke's Lutheran churches will begin at 7:30 p. m., with sermons by pastors of the churches, Dr. Paul H. Saleste, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, and Dr. H S. Garnes, respectively.

At St. Paul's Lutheran and St. Mark's Lutheran churches services will start at 7:45 p. m. At St. Paul's church, Rev. Herman L. Gilbert will administer the Holy Communion and preach a Lenten sermon. Rev. C. A. Portz of St. Mark's, will also address his congregation.

SUIT DISCLOSES COAL FIRM SALE

The filing of a suit to prevent the transfer of a telephone number disclosed today the sale of the Laser and Walker Coal company, 214 East Fourth street, to George L. Satterlee.

Satterlee petitioned common pleas court for an injunction to prevent the former owners from transferring that company's telephone number " to another location."

Listed as defendants in the petition, filed by Atty. Homer G. Clark are Guy L. Walker, 214 Park avenue east, Clifton C. Laser, 54 State street, and the Mansfield Telephone company.

Walker and Laser, Satterlee said, sold their coal company to him Feb. 6 and agreed that he should have exclusive use of the firm name for one year. He says the defendants have demanded that the Mansfield Telephone company transfer the number.

Such acton, he contends, would be a violation of the sale agreement and would cause "irreparable damage.

The requested injunction, if granted, would prevent the telephone company from transferring the number.

CLAY OPPOSES BUDGET SLASH

BERLIN—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy military governor, warned today that if the United States Army does not get budgetary funds requested "we will not accomplish our objectives in Germany."

Gen. Clay made his statement at a news conference in reference to proposals in Washington for cuts in the army budget. He declared that the army had "asked for very minimum funds."

The general then expressed his personal opinion that there can be no final peace for Germany without a permanent or at least a provisional reich government. But he said a provisory peace arrangement is possible.

Gen. Clay said that the Allied Control Council in Berlin will be on schedule with its report on Germany for consideration of the Big Four council of foreign ministers which meets in Berlin March 10. The report is due to be submitted on Feb. 25.

The American deputy commander, who next month succeeds Gen. Joseph T. McNarney as commander, revealed that 50 per cent of the report already has been approved by all four occupation chiefs.

Agreement has been reached notably on chapters concerning finance, demilitarization, manpower and reparation policies as well as certain parts of the economic program.

PARKS LICENSED

CLEVELAND—(AP)—City council last night approved legislation to license amusement parks and to make racial or other discrimination a cause for revocation of park licenses.

20 Perish, 85 Hurt In Crash Of 'Red Arrow'

Two Locomotives, 5 Cars Plunge Over An Embankment

ALTOONA, Pa. — (AP) — Three crew members and an undetermined number of passengers were killed and "around 85 persons injured" early today when the Pennsylvania railroad's "Red Arrow" Detroit-to-New York passenger train jumped the tracks ten miles west of here, a PRR spokesman reported.

Coroner Daniel Replogle of Altoona said that "at least 20 were killed" in the wreck.

* * *

Near Horseshoe Curve.

The wreck of the Detroit-New York sleeper occurred at 3:25 a. m. The scene was about two miles west of "Horseshoe Curve," known to thousands for its beautiful view down a mountain valley.

A railroad spokesman said two locomotives and 11 cars of the 14-car train were derailed, the locomotives and five cars rolling down an embankment.

The injured were rushed to hospitals at Altoona, where attendants became so busy they couldn't count the casualties. Mercy and Altoona hospitals later reported they had a total of 85 casualties and more were arriving.

The accident disrupted all railroad telephone communication in the area, the spokesman said, increasing the difficulty of obtaining information and details.

The "Red Arrow" is one of the Pennsylvania's crack passenger trains. It had eight sleepers, one diner, one coach and the rest baggage and mail cars.

Describes Scene.

Tom Lynam, an Altoona photographer, said he saw three or four bodies lying around and injured passengers were moaning inside an overturned car.

"I shone my flashlight inside and saw arms and legs sticking up," he said. "Some railroad

'Red Arrow' Picked Up Passengers Here

The Pennsylvania's "Red Arrow," which was wrecked near Altoona, Pa., early today, picked up several passengers in Mansfield about 8:30 p. m., yesterday, rail officials here said. None of the passengers, however, has been reported dead or missing.

Among the passengers were representatives of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company in the east. They had been visiting the Mansfield plant.

Eastbound traffic on the Pennsylvania through Mansfield was restored last night, but westbound trains are running several hours late today, company spokesmen said.

Fast Electric Car Knifes Through Loaded Bus

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. — Witnesses who saw a speeding one-car electric train knife through a bus load of railroad workers, killing 13 persons and injuring 16 others, said today they could see no cause for the accident.

The bus driver, Glenn Morris, Michigan City, had an unobstructed view for miles either way down the track, but apparently did not see the train as it bore down on the bus at 65 to 70 miles an hour at a grade crossing five miles east of here yesterday afternoon.

10 In Hospital.

Ten of the injured still were in serious condition at Clinic hospital here. All of those killed and 14 of the injured were riding in the bus. They were members of a railroad section gang who had just completed work on another section of the company's right of way.

Morris stopped the bus, witnesses said, and then started slowly across the tracks in the path of the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend passenger car. The collision sliced the bus in two, strewing bodies of the dead and the screaming injured along the track. Morris' body was found 500 yards from the crossing.

W. E. Willard, 45, South Bend, motorman of the suburban train, and one of his passengers were treated for injuries at a hospital and released. The other 25 train passengers continued on their way after transferring to another South Bend-to-Chicago suburban.

City Patrolman Takes Over for Rail Watchman

A Mansfield police officer reported today he replaced a crossing watchman at the busy East Fourth street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad for two hours last night when it appeared that the watchman was unable to continue his duties.

City Patrolman F. M. Williams, in an official police report, stated that he was "detailed to the East Fourth street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad at 11:10 p. m." and "took over control of traffic from 11:15 to 1:10 a. m. when I was relieved by a Pennsylvania railroad employe who was capable of operating the gates."

C. H. Koozer, supervisor of tracks for the Pennsylvania railroad, said that when railroad officials were notified two men were sent to the scene. He said the men reached the crossing about 11:45 p. m.

Ohio Brass Representative Loses Fingernail In Wreck

By GERALD D. RUSSELL
(As Told to the United Press)

* * *

(Russell, British representative of the Ohio Brass company of Mansfield, was a passenger in the fourth coach of the "Red Arrow" train which derailed near Altoona today. A native of Middlesborough, Yorkshire, England, he was en route to New York where he planned to board ship for South America.)

* * *

ALTOONA, Pa. —(UP)— I was not quite asleep in the lower berth—just dozing—when I felt the train lurch.

I immediately became fully conscious but not quite aware of the nature of the wreck. I knew, however, that the train had left the track.

I managed to crawl out of my berth through a jumbled mass of luggage, mattresses and bits of metal which had jammed the aisle.

I groped in the darkness and felt two windows. I broke one and managed to open the other. But it was so dark I couldn't see what I was doing.

* * *

AFTER GROPING about in the darkness I found myself back in lower 8—my own berth.

I heard a passenger near me and tried to reach him but he was wedged between the jumble in the aisle. He said his name was Devine. He wasn't hurt but asked me to give him an account of what was going on.

I described the scene to him as best I could. He was a spunky chap, though, seemed calm despite being pinned down.

Finally, I heard the rescue workers climbing up the upper side of our car. Two of the men pulled me out of the hole and let me down gradually over the side.

They extricated Devine although I have not seen him since.

* * *

I COUNT MYSELF a lucky passenger, indeed I lost a nail on the first finger of my right hand.

But what worries me now is my luggage. I lost all my papers and my passport is missing. That's quite serious for a foreigner, you know.

Altogether I was imprisoned in the car for nearly an hour and a half. I feel calm but I fear a shock reaction later.

As I was taken away from the wreckage, I surveyed the scene briefly. It was a shambles of twisted metal and battered cars. It appeared to me that the first few cars lay at right angles to the remainder of the train.

Senators Set Style

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The fearless U. S. senate is trying its artistic hand again as modiste, designing coats for ladies. I don't think the ladies are going to like it.

The senators didn't intend, you understand, to become couturiers, but they got themselves into such a jam a while back with the stubborn sex that they now have legislated some new styles. My guess is that their own wives will go to work on 'em tonight.

What happened was that when the boys slapped a 20 per cent excise tax on fur-trimmed coats costing up to $100, they collided slap-dash with that best known of all feminine traits—the urge for bargains.

The ladies found that a $100 coat with a piece of skunk on the collar cost 'em $120, but that they could get the same coat trimmed with threads of gold, peacock feathers, or synthetic diamonds for $20 less. They stopped buying coats with fur trimmings. The manufacturers quit making 'em, fur piled up in the warehouses, and many a farmer who raised foxes for ladies' collars found himself on the verge of bankruptcy.

Came then Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Appleton, Wis., to remedy this sorry situation with an amendment to the excise tax bill. His intentions were of the best. But the fact remains that he is a bachelor, ignorant of domestic crises involving ladies' coats.

His formula was a complicated one which I shall not try to explain; its effect was to exempt from the tax fur-trimmed coats costing up to $142.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, a married man, was aghast. What, he cried, about fur coats that cost less than $142? Was the senate going to keep on taxing them 20 per cent?

You can't buy a fur coat for less than $142, retorted Sen. McCarthy, unless it's made of rabbit, or mouton.

"SOME SENATORS think a mouton is a fur bearing animal," he added.

"Well, what kind of an animal is it?" demanded Sen. Hickenlooper.

"It is a sheep," replied Sen. McCarthy. "What comes off its back is wool and we pay a subsidy on wool production, but when it is treated and dyed and called mouton, the treasury department says it is fur."

Sen. Hickenlooper said this was not fair. Sen. McCarthy said he knew it wasn't, but what can you do with the treasury department?

The gentleman from Louisiana, John H. Overton (a married man) said then that he supposed a fine cloth coat costing $2,000 would not be taxed at all, but that a mink at the same price would be $400 extra. Sen. McCarthy demonstrated again his ignorance of things feminine; he said this had nothing to do with the question because it is impossible for any coat without fur to cost that much. That's what he thinks.

So the modistes of the senate batted the mink around a while longer. Skunks entered the discussion. Couturier Robert A. Taft of Ohio observed that as of today there are no fur-trimmed coats on the market because of congress' previous attempt at fashion designing. If muskrats soon don't appear around the ladies' necks again, Sen. Allen J. Ellender indicated there wouldn't be any room left in Louisiana for people. The muskrat surplus is something awful.

The senators eventually adopted bachelor McCarthy's law. They did this without a record vote. This sudden passion for anonymity cannot save them from the wrath of their wives. Here's why:

Ladies of the senate, I give you my word; the vote was unanimous. Not one of your spouses said "no" to bachelor McCarthy's solution to the coat collar crisis.

WALTER LIPPMAN

Fairness Essential

Senator Brewster has put his objection to the appointment of Mr. Lilienthal on the ground that the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission should be a man "above suspicion and who commands far more general confidence."

This raises a very important question: namely, whether in Mr. Brewster's view the fact that a man is accused makes him not above suspicion. That is what Senator Brewster appears to be saying.

Yet when he thinks it over, he cannot mean that. He cannot mean that he is going to surrender his own judgment and evade his own plain duty as a senator to weigh the accusations of Senator McKellar and decide whether they are true or false. For if Senator Brester's theory were once accepted, if to be accused is to be disqualified for public office, then no man's reputation is safe.

Not a single senator could meet the test that Mr. Brewster is applying to Mr. Lilienthal. Not one of them is "above suspicion" in the sense that he has never been attacked by political opponents. For no man can so conduct himself in public life that he is never attacked. No man can put himself "above suspicion." All he can do is to put himself above the suspicion of just and honest men who examine the charges against him.

Whether Mr. Lilienthal will eventually command general confidence cannot be determined today. His appointment is for two years, and at the end of this term, there may be a Republican president. In any event, if he is appointed, the senate will be called upon again to pass upon him. But it will then be passing upon his performance in office and not upon the accusations of Senator McKellar.

* * *

IN THE MEANTIME we are perhaps forgetting the positive reasons why Mr. Lilienthal was selected. It is that he has conducted successfully the one great operation which most nearly resembles the operations under the Atomic Energy Act. The Tennessee Valley Authority is in scale and scope extraordinarily similar to the Atomic Energy Commission. It is the administration of enormously valuable property in collaboration with private corporations and private individuals, involving scientific research and both civil and military service.

Mr. Lilienthal happens to be the only man in the United States who has ever administered such a big and special project. No doubt other men could have done it. The fact of the matter is that he has done it, and that he possesses, not, to be sure, unique ability, but a unique experience. It was as natural to select him for this particular undertaking, especially at the beginning, as it was, for example, to send Admiral Byrd back to the Antarctic because he already knew more about it than anyone else.

That kind of work cannot be obtained just by paying for it. It certainly cannot be obtained by ordering it to be done. The creative imagination is a delicate and subtle thing, and all men are a little queer while it is working within them. The senate does not have much to do with men of this sort. But here it is dealing with them, and somehow it will have to realize that the kind of atmosphere generated by Senator McKellar has much the same withering effect on the very highest type of intellect that a killing frost has on a fragile plant.

Maybe men endowed with the rare gift for penetrating the unknown and dedicated to the search for truth ought to be tougher, and insensitive to an atmosphere of suspicion, superstition and inquisition. But we shall have to take them as they are, and accept the fact that in an atmosphere like that of this nasty fight the best work of the best men may be lost.

WESTBROOK PEGLER

GOP Meek In Arizona

THE REPUBLICAN underground movement of Arizona held a more or less secret meeting a few nights ago for Senator Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, a big, lanky, Boston aristocrat with a gaunt, Lincolnian face, who is being invited around the country like a freshman being rushed by a fraternity.

The Republicans of Tucson invited him to give them a speech and they tried to keep the matter dark, but William Houston Johnson, the editor of our evening paper, The Citizen, got wind of it and broke the story.

The Republicans are a minority group in Arizona and very self-conscious about their inferiority and I commend them to the mercy of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who is always taking up for minorities. The Republicans of Arizona aren't brash. They don't demand social equality with the Democrats, they know their place and keep it in a voluntary Jim Crow and when they persuade a prominent eastern Republican to come to town they take him off to their own quarter, something on the order of a political ghetto, so that no bricklayers or truck drivers or other members of the employee class can hear him and accuse the Republicans of spreading subversive doctrines.

This little meeting for about 250 confirmed Republicans was held at El Rio golf and country club, which is just about what you have in mind when you picture the golf and country club in any small city. Attorneys, prominent merchants, doctors, retired old geezers and the like.

Patriots, of course, the Republicans nevertheless and strangely apart because it is so long since they have won that they seem to feel that the majority of the voters wouldn't want to be Republicans, anyway.

* * *

THE DEMOCRATS are different. They are bold and bumptious. One night when Mrs. Roosevelt was trooping they brought her to the biggest auditorium in town, having first billed her act like the circus or the embalmed whale, and packed the place and she was on her way with about $1,500 for her end, as easy as breaking sticks. A few nights before Senator Saltonstall came to town, Carey McWilliams was booked to give his show, which consists of a talk, probably about the Oakies and Arkies and the CIO, which are part of his line. Mr. McWilliams is a California New Dealer but just a second-stringer and still, he too, probably would have hung them from the rafters in the big hall, except that he didn't show up. The paper said his plane was grounded or something.

Elliott Roosevelt could get a big house or Ickes or any of them, but the Republicans are jealous of their show-horses and surround them with fellow-Republicans, of whom there are just barely enough to surround a skinny guy, so, in this case, all Senator Saltonstall got out of his trip was the regular $2 dinner. He didn't make a vote out of it because the only ones who were invited were people who were for him, anyway.

BOARD PLACES APPROVAL ON 4 STAFF MEMBERS

3 Others Leave School Posts; Bus Contract Renewed.

Appointment of four teachers and coordinators and the resignations of two others were approved last night by the Mansfield board of education.

Appointed were Mrs. Doris West, permanent substitute teacher at John Simpson junior high school; Lester J. DeFord, Senior high vocational department; Robert Nye, coordinator at Senior high, and Mrs. Helen Palmer, permanent substitute teacher at Bushnell school.

Teachers whose resignations were accepted were Miss Ruth Dukes, who left John Simpson junior high school to take other employment, and Mrs. Mildred Hoffman, permanent substitute teacher at Senior high school, who resigned because of illness in her family. Raymond Dent, Senior high teacher, was granted a leave of absence to permit him to attend college.

On the recommendation of Glen L. Robinson, schools business agent, the board authorized employment of an additional maintenance man to take charge of painting operations. Robinson will ask the Mansfield Civil Service commission for certification of an applicant for the post.

Seeks 2 More Men.

Robinson suggested the employment of two additional men to boost the maintenance staff to seven. He also proposed creation of a job as maintenance foreman.

The board withheld action on the foreman proposal until Robinson compiles an organization chart showing the set-up of the maintenance staff.

Three shifts in the staff of custodians were approved by the board. John Pryor was moved, at his request, from the Western Avenue school, where he was chief custodian, to the Hedges school where he will be assistant janitor with license.

Raymond Bright was shifted from the Bushnell school to head custodian at the Western Avenue school, and Floyd Miles, assistant janitor with license, from Hedges school to Bushnell school on a 60-day probational basis.

Renews Bus Contract.

Mrs. Myrtle Houston's contract for transporting pupils to and from city school was renewed for one year at the present rate of $101 per day. The contract covers the 1947-48 school year. Houston buses have transported city pupils for 26 years.

Board Clerk John H. Eisaman said Mrs. Houston indicated she would haul only Mansfield pupils during the next year. Her firm has been transporting Madison township pupils as well.

The board heard a request from the Mansfield Council of Religious Education for use of the Newman, Hedges, Woodland and West Fifth buildings from June 9 to June 20 for Vacation Bible school classes.

Action was withheld until the council indicates the hours it wants to use the buildings.

FIRE DAMAGES ROSELAND HOME

The interior of a residence on Wyandotte avenue in the Roseland district was gutted by fire yesterday afternoon. All the furniture in the one and one-half story residence owned by H. V. Calland was destroyed, the fire department reported.

The fire, of unknown origin, was discovered by a passerby who turned in the alarm. The house was empty, and by the time firemen arrived the blaze was well underway.

Firemen said they were hampered by insufficient water pressure, and were forced to use a bucket brigade to supply water to the engine booster.

Only one truck fought the blaze. Under an agreement between Madison township trustees and the City of Mansfield, only one engine and two men from the Mansfield fire department are permitted to fight fires in the township.

Appleseed Pupils To Hear Naturalist

Harry Eldon Duer, naturalist and president of the Cleveland Bird club, will talk on "Wild Life in Action" at an assembly program at Johnny Appleseed junior high school Thursday.

He will show movies he has taken of birds and wildlife in the region between Pymatuning and the Sandusky marshes in the northern part of the state.

AREA'S OLDEST WEDDED COUPLE CALLS 67 YEARS 'RICH EXPERIENCE'

By GEORGE SATTLER

Wedding bells which rang for Aaron and Mary Kagey Cole of Mifflin 67 years ago will ring once again tomorrow in their memories.

"I suppose to most people 67 years of marriage seems like a long time," Mrs. Cole smiled. "But to me it is a rich experience that began only yesterday."

The Coles were married in Ashland Feb. 19, 1880.

Believed to be the area's oldest married couple, Aaron Cole will be 92 on May 20. Mrs. Cole is 87.

Speaking of her long marriage, Mrs. Cole said:

"These past 67 years have been the happiest of my life. Aaron and I have always worked together, no matter what we set out to do—and that means everything."

* * *

"AND IF we had any serious quarrels, I don't remember any of 'em," Cole added. "If I saw trouble brewing, which wasn't often, I just took a walk and let things cool off."

Miss Bess Cole, a daughter, who operates the Mifflin switchboard and lives with her father and mother, said that she never saw them "fight" or give each other an angry word.

Although the Coles are planning a quiet family gathering to celebrate their anniversary, many friends and old acquaintances plan to drop in on the couple tomorrow.

A son, Rolla W. of Widowville, near Loudonville, and four daughters, Bess of Mifflin, Mrs. George Myers and Mrs. Ray Harlan of Mansfield and Mrs. Dallas E. Van Tilburg of Ashland will help them celebrate the anniversary.

* * *

STILL ACTIVE. Cole is an ardent gardener and still does all the chores around the home. Mrs. Cole also enjoys doing many household tasks.

"More than anything, I'm looking forward to seeing my great grandchildren tomorrow," Mrs. Cole said, her eyes twinkling. "No one can have too many children about."

The Coles have ten grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. Weirick Dies In City

Mrs. Emma Snider Weirick, 72, wife of I. B. Weirick, Lincoln Heights, died Monday evening at the Hammond Rest home, following a lingering illness. She was born Nov. 4, 1874, near Lucas and spent her entire life in this community. She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Lucas.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a son, Guy Weirick of Lincoln Heights; two brothers, Leo Snider of Lucas and Harry Snider of Mansfield, and two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Moser of Little Washington and Mrs. George Mentzer of Lexington.

The body is at Wappner funeral home where funeral services will be held Thursday at 1 p. m., in charge of Rev. Paul Buchholtz pastor of St. Paul's church of Lucas. Burial will be in the Mt. Zion cemetery.

COUNTY SEEKS NEW BELLVILLE QUARTERS

Richland county wants a new highway outpost garage in Bellville.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported today that he has been asked to move county road equipment and vehicles from the rented barn in Bellville.

"The owner of the barn reports his taxes and insurance have been so much that the rent the county can pay him hardly covers his costs. So we're moving. We hope to be in new quarters by June 1," Rusk said.

Unable to find ready-made structures for rent in Bellville, Rusk and the county commissioners are thinking of buying or leasing some land and erecting on it a temporary structure to house the road equipment.

Owner of the present highway garage, located on Ogle street, is John S. Welch.

APPROVAL GIVEN YOUTH TRAINING IS CONDITIONAL

Universal military training received conditional approval yesterday of members of the Mansfield Army Advisory committee, Sgt. Daniel DeSalvo reported today.

Unconditional approval was withheld at the committee's monthly meeting, because of the desire to have more complete information as to the specific program for UMT to be set up by the War Department.

Outright opposition to the plan for UMT expressed by Rev. C. A. Portz, representing the Mansfield Ministerial association, DeSalvo said.

While Rev. Portz said that the association be represented was 100 per cent against the proposed UMT," DeSalvo said, "the other representatives present reported that their surveys resulted in opinions ranging from extreme enthusiasm to approval.

"The question raised by all was one of the desire to know in more detail the War Department's plans for UMT," DeSalvo said.

Data Asked On Options.

"Especially there was the desire to know more about the options offered to men after their six months of basic training. According to the present plan, men can elect to go to a War Department approved school as one of their options. Committee members all said that there was a desire to know just what schools will be approved by the War Department.

"So far the answer given by the department to this question has been that it is a post-legislative one," DeSalvo said. "That is, after legislation has been passed establishing UMT, the War Department will set up its standards for approval of educational institutions."

In expressing the opposition of the Mansfield ministerial association to UMT, Rev. Portz said that it was the association's view that the primary question to be determined was how large our peace time armed forces needed to be, DeSalvo said. Having d our requirements first we should then proceed to determine the best means for obtaining them.

Small Army Favored.

Rev. Portz felt, DeSalvo said, that a small highly trained professional group might prove more desirable than a large group of partially trained teen-agers.

Ken Woodman, representing the press, reported that the News-Journal would support the principle of universal military training editorially but would reserve the right to criticize the provisions of any particular bills.

Others present at yesterday's meeting held in room one, post office building, were Desmond Walker, representing the CIO; W. B. Huber, AFL; Mrs. Bosse Augsburger, Red Cross; Dr. Edwin Fensch, chairman, representing the schools, and S. Sgt. Thomas Elder of the Mansfield army recruiting station.

The question of the merger of the armed forces will be the subject of discussion of the next meeting of the committee, scheduled for March 17, DeSalvo said.

HELPLESS BOY BURNS

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Arriving at his own home in response to an alarm, Lt. Mark Devine of the fire department found that his six-year-old son, Mickey, an invalid, had burned to death after the bed clothing caught fire. Fire Marshal Edward Corsmeier said several other children were playing in the bedroom and it was believed one of them set the bed afire with a cigaret lighter.

Rites for Turner Set for Wednesday

Funeral services for Arthur Windom Turner, 81, will be held at the Finefrock funeral home Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. R. W. McNary, pastor of the Ontario Community church, will officiate. He will be assisted by Rev. Russell H. Hoy, Mr. Turner's son-in-law.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery, Shelby. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mr. Turner died Sunday morning at his home on the Park avenue west road, following a brief illness.

Up and Down The Street

IMPRESSED—

Writing from Alhambra, Calif., where he and his wife are vacationing, Jesse O. Byers, Mansfield realtor, is particularly impressed by the well-kept homes and yards, also by the cleanness of the business streets. "They have waste paper containers and the people really use them," he says—and there's a note to the effect that they look forward eagerly to the arrival of the News-Journal each day.

CAREFUL PEDESTRIANS—

A smashed cheese box at Third and Mulberry streets is the focal point of this story. It provides some sort of a side-light on human nature. First one car ran over the box, then a second, and a third. Pedestrians at the intersection stopped to watch as each succeeding car crunched into the box. Some craned their necks to get a better look. Most of them smiled. Finally the light changed and the pedestrians started to cross. The first half a dozen people stepped gingerly around the crushed box, looking first at the box and then at the next car which would hit it. Then, by golly, it happened! Somebody thoughtt to pick up the box and move it out of the street.

BUC EXAMINERS GO TO SCHOOL

A three-day training school opened in Mansfield today for area Bureau Unemployment Compensation examiners.

The school is being held in the Chamber of Commerce conference rooms from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., daily through Thursday.

Fifteen examiners from Mansfield, Marion, Ashland, Mt. Vernon, Mt. Gilead, Galion, Shelby, and Wooster are attending the school.

Miss Wanda Yontz, BUC examiner at the Mansfield office, is the Mansfield representative.

Al Schaefer, head of the training division of the BUC at Columbus, is in charge of the school.

4 Drivers Cited For Safe Driving

Four drivers for the Railway Express agency in Mansfield have received "Safety Merit" cards, C. R. Deisler, Mansfield agent, announced today.

H. S. Stull received a nine-year award, H. G. Keck and G. A. Neal, four-year, and G. A. Palmer, two-year.

The merit cards show the number of years a driver has operated a motor vehicle for the express agency without an accident for which he was responsible.

RURAL HOMES MARKED ON 12 MAIN ROUTES

Rush Plans to Finish Work By Next Year; Asks Shelby to Help.

The numbering of rural houses within a three-mile radius of Mansfield has been completed on 12 of the 18 major roads entering the city and the rest should be completed next week, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said today.

The county road department took over the house numbering task in the immediate vicinity of Mansfield after the Chamber of Commerce proposed the project on a county-wide basis.

"We should complete numbering on the six other major highways and several other important roads next week," Rusk said.

In addition, the engineer said he will propose to the mayor of Shelby that that city or some organization there assume the responsibility for numbering homes in the immediate vicinity of Shelby.

* * *

Seeks Township Aid.

Rusk also said that he intends asking the Madison township trustees to assume responsibility for numbering the homes on streets in the many suburban communities adjacent to Mansfield.

"The job consumes a great deal of time, especially on the short streets in the new subdivisions where careful measuring is necessary. We are hoping that the township trustees and the city of Shelby will be able to do their own numbering," Rusk said.

The original county-wide project has been abandoned in favor of the three-mile radius limitation because of conflicting jurisdictions and a doubt that numbering houses in accordance with their distance from Central park in Mansfield would be effective at the outer limits of the county.

"The homes near Shelby should really be numbered in accordance with the present Shelby system," Rusk remarked.

Out of Mansfield the numbers have been set at one digit for each 10 feet north or south of U. S. Route 30 and east or west from State Route 13, Rusk said. Some 500 homes have already been numbered near Mansfield and Rusk said he estimates there are about 250 homes to be numbered on the remaining roads.

Meanwhile, a representative of the I. F. Toombs Truck Sales company of Columbus is to meet with Rusk tomorrow for a conference on cost of supplying the county with road-name signs. Rusk and the county commissioners hope to interest Mansfield merchants, utility companies, and the Chamber of Commerce in sharing the cost of erecting the signs.

2 AAA SIGN-UP MEETINGS SET

Triple-A committees in Sandusky and Weller townships have scheduled "sign-up" meetings for farmers during the next week, AAA Chairman Guy L. Taylor said today.

Farmers in those townships will be asked to indicate the conservation practices they will follow in 1947. Richland county is allotted approximately $90,000 for its Triple-A conservation program this year.

The Sandusky township meeting will be held at the township house Feb. 19 from 1 to 9 p. m. In Weller township the sign-up meeting is scheduled Feb. 25 from 7 to 9 p. m. in the township garage.

Sign-up meetings are still unscheduled in four other townships. They are in Cass, Franklin, Jefferson and Troy.

Mike Milligan Gets Pitt Coaching Job

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—The University of Pittsburgh entrusted its football fortunes today to one of its outstanding sons, Walter S. (Mike) Milligan, former line coach under Fesler and ace guard during the golden Sutherland era.

Milligan was officially named to the Pitt head coaching post yesterday, three days after Fesler's resignation and appointment to the Ohio State post.

BUTLER, SHILOH CONTEST OPENS PLAY AT 7:30

Bellville and Ontario Meet In Second Battle

The 1947 Richland county Class B basketball tournament swings into action tonight at the Senior high school with two games scheduled starting at 7:30.

Butler's Bulldogs, who won the county tourney league with 14 consecutive victories meets Shiloh in the initial encounter and the Bellville Blue Jays collide with Ontario's Warriors in the second game of the single elimination tourney.

Lucas won the 1946 tournament by annihilating Bellville 38 to 28. Both teams represented Richland county in the district tourney at Bascom.

In gaining the title, Coach W S. Barger's Lucas team defeated Ontario 42 to 32 and Butler 27 to 26. The Bellville quintet had topped Plymouth 33 to 24 and Union 38 to 22.

Undefeated Season.

Coach Ed Wysocki's undefeated Bulldogs won 16 games during the 1946-47 season. In regular county league play, the Bulldogs topped Shiloh twice, 56 to 23 and 60 to 22.

Shiloh played only the 14 league games and finished in the cellar without a win. Coach Dave Phenager took over the coaching reins vacated by Daryle Heiser less than a month ago.

Bellville finished in a tie for third place in the county league with Plymouth. Both teams annexed eight loop victories and six defeats. Ontario split even in 14 games and finished in fifth place.

Coach Orville Kibler's Blue Jays will have their hands full against Coach Dick Casad's Warriors. Ontario nipped the Blue Jays 31 to 28 and lost to Bellville 27 to 21 in the return contest.

Kibler's Bellville team ended its regular season with nine wins and six defeats.

Casad's Warriors dropped their lone outside contest to Iberia's Presidents in the 1946-47 initial battle.

Boyd Robinson, superintendent of the county schools, again pointed out today that doors will be opened at 6 p. m. for fans who have not purchased tickets.

Ticket Sales.

After the advance sale of ducats is closed at the various schools, the choice tickets will be returned to Robinson's office and those tickets will be sold to the public at the gate.

Only 1,200 tickets will be sold all together. After that the doors will be closed. People seeking tickets at the school are again advised to line up at the Virginia street entrance.

Those who buy their tickets through the various schools will be admitted through the northwest door of the gym only. All teams with complimentary passes will also be admitted through the northwest door.

Wednesday night, Lexington plays Union in the first game, and Plymouth meets Lucas in the second fracas.

Records of the other schools are: Lexington, (11-7); Plymouth, (11-7); Lucas, (5-11), and Union (4-10).

Wildcat Chief Buzzes Around In Coach Hunt

CHICAGO — (AP) — In a race against an April 3 deadline, the date Northwestern's spring football drills open, Athletic Director Ted Payseur today was buzzing around the country hunting a head coach.

He hoped to have chats with as many as possible in his search for a replacement for Lynn Waldorf, who suddenly took the head coaching assignment at the University of California, before winding up his three-day whirlwind expedition tomorrow.

Last seen, Payseur was heading for Columbia, Mo., to offer a contract to Don Faurot, bossman of the Missouri Tigers. The pact probably ranges between $10,000 and $12,000 yearly.

From Missouri — according to Chet Gargas, assistant Northwestern athletic director—the trail is expected to lead into Ohio where Payseur will corner Ray Nolting, formerly a dashing performer for the Chicago Bears and now a successful mentor at Cincinnati university. Then on to Cleveland to speak to another prominent prospect, Bob Voights, line coach for Paul Brown's Cleveland Browns, All-American conference pro champions.

Plumbers Wrench Win From Junior Optimists, 56-18

Mansfield Plumbers featured play in the Junior league at the Friendly House last night by thoroughly drubbing the Junior Optimists, 56 to 18. It was the 12th straight victory for the Plumbers.

Saprano's cigar store won an easy 30 to 20 victory and Marshall Market won over Roseland, 27 to 20, in other games.

Keller and Baith made 47 of the Plumbers' points.

Ohio State's Wes Fesler Says It's Really Great to Be Home

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Wesley Fesler, a sincere and friendly young man who just signed a five-year lease on Ohio State's football coaching hot seat, opined today it was "great to be home."

"This my home and I hope to be around for a long time," the former Buck All-American told a gathering of sports writers and radio men last night. There was conviction in Fesler's manner as he pledged that Ohio State would have a "fighting club" that placed a premium on high morale.

Buck fans could vouch for that. They still recalled the battle Fesler's 1946 University of Pittsburgh team, composed largely of green freshmen and sophomores, put up before losing to the Bucks last fall.

Fesler assured the scribes that the Bucks would be gentlemen off the field, as well as on it.

"We expect to operate from an unbalanced line mostly," Fesler said. "We'll doubtless have some 'T' stuff and some single wing stuff, but we'll have to see what the material looks like before we set our offense."

The 38-year-old Buck mentor indicated he expected "You'll see a lot of the 5-4-2 defense we employed at Pitt last year."

Crawford Meet Resumes Play

BUCYRUS — The Crawford county basketball tournament heads in to its final week of play with two games scheduled tonight at 7:30 on the Bucyrus high school floor.

Chatfield meets Holmes-Liberty and Sulphur Springs collides with Whetstone. Holmes-Liberty, league champions, and Sulphur Springs were co-favorites for the 1947 title but both were rudely jolted Saturday night.

Tiro handed Sulphur Springs its second loss in 17 games, 49 to 19 while Lykens defeated H-L, 34 to 26.

Winners of tonight's games meet Thursday at 7:30 in the consolation final with Lykens and Tiro battling for the championship in the second contest.

The Lykens-Tiro loser plays the winner of the consolation contest for the second berth in the district tournament at Bascom.

Baptists Seek Grip on First

The Park Avenue Baptist cagers will be seeking a victory over First Presbyterian and an undisputed grip on first place in the YMCA Senior Church league at the 'Y' court tonight.

The Baptists are tied for first place with Ontario Community which remains idle this week. Each has won six of eight contests. The Park Avenue quintet plays the Presbyterians in the last game.

Opening play at 7 p. m., will be the First Lutheran-St. Matthews tilt. St. Matthews has a four and three record and the Lutherans have copped three wins in eight games.

St. Luke's is favored to win its sixth victory in eight starts against Mayflower Congregational in the second game.

Grade School Loop Plays Close Tilts

New York Rens Defeat Toledo Pros, 49 to 38

New York Renaissance flashed some of their old-time form in the second half to defeat the Toledo Collegians in an exhibition basketball game last night at the Senior high gymnasium, 49 to 38.

The Rens pounded home 30 points in the last half to overcome an early Toledo advantage. Sonny Woods and Hillery Brown, a couple of New York veterans, were the shining lights in the second half drive.

The younger and faster Collegians waltzed to a 9 to 4 lead at the quarter and held a 23 to 19 margin at the half. However, the Rens went ahead for the first time in the third quarter and led 35 to 32 going into the last eight minutes.

Adept Ball-Handling.

The lead kept piling up and with four minutes left in the game New York led, 45 to 36. From then on out the Rens gave a classy exhibition of adept ball-handling.

Woods took a shot from the side-lines at the Collegians' basket but missed. Al Alverez, the fiery Toledo captain, who crams a lot of basketball into his aging frame, then dribbled the length of the floor to cage the final field goal for the Rens.

Woods and Johnny Beglin, Collegian guard, who played for St. Johns of Brooklyn, vied for high-point honors with 12 apiece. Brown and George Crowe of the Rens each had 11.

Yunckers Sports of the Mansfield City A basketball league, won the preliminary by stopping the Fixible Clippers of Loudonville, 40 to 31.

The Clippers moved into an 8 to 4 lead at the quarter but the Sports rough-housed their way to a 21 to 17 lead at the half and it was easy sailing the rest of the way.

Don Yuncker, Clipper center, had 14 points while Bill Herpich made 12 for Yunckers.

Class A Court Outfits Wrap Up 1947 Business

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer

Ohio's class B basketball hordes reach the climax of their county tournament elimination systems this week while their big brothers in class A wrap up unfinished business in readiness for district tests.

Among last week's casualties in "B" ranks was the defending champion, Farmer. The 1946 titlists lost to Jewell, 36 to 18, in the Defiance county finals.

The defeat snapped a skein of 14 straight victories and four straight county championships for Farmer, but the little community still could retain a faint hope. Under the county's double elimination system, Farmer remained in the running for second place and a district berth.

Second Straight.

Worthington, state runner-up last year, was well along to its second straight crown down in Franklin county. The Cardinals defeated Gahanna, 38 to 32, for their second tourney victory.

In Jefferson county, Yorkville's fine club, which had 18 regular season triumphs, started tournament play with a banging 103-to-32 win over Bergholz. Yorkville cashed in on 44 of 87 attempted shots from the field in an amazing performance.

Bettsville stretched its undefeated skein to 21 as it breezed through the second round in Seneca county. Melmore fell, 66 to 23, and Bettsville's scoring total reached 1,113 points for the season.

Pickaway county featured New Holland, unbeaten in 20 games. Red Hot for three years, New Holland has nine seniors on its squad. It looked like now or a long wait for the Bulldogs.

Jeromesville, with 19 wins and two losses in the regular season, was another outstanding candidate off to a flying start. Savannah was a Jeromesville victim, 37 to 21, in Ashland county.

Bluffton opened play in the Lima district tourney for exempted villages and parochial schools by extending its seasonal string of successes to 17 games. Bluffton defeated Delphos Jefferson, 66 to 25, last night.

Two Unbeaten.

Meanwhile, class A continued to boast two unbeaten quintets. Bryan achieved its 15 straight, 58 to 33, from Liberty Center. Last Bryan test comes tonight against Van Wert, which hasn't won a game in 14 starts.

Upper Arlington boosted its mark to 15 with a 47-33 drubbing of Grandview. The Golden Bears have two more hurdles to negotiate, playing Columbus Academy tonight and Delaware Friday.

East Liverpool continued to show great strength with a 45 to 30 walloping of Canton McKinley. It was the Potters' 17th win in 19 starts, and McKinley's second loss in 11 tries.

Findley clinched the Buckeye league crown, defeating Bowling Green, 43-33. It was the 11th in a row for Findley and its 14th victory against two setbacks.

In other cities, Youngstown South became city champ with a 35-31 decision over Chaney; Toledo Woodward and Central Catholic were tied, as were Akron West and Central, and Cincinnati Elder claimed the greater Cincinnati high school league crown.

BOXING'S GREATEST DRAWING CARDS NOT ENJOYING COMPLETE HAPPINESS

By LAWTON CARVER
(INS Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—(INS)—The three greatest drawing cards in boxing are, in order, Joe Louis, Rocky Graziano and Ray Robinson. None of them is enjoying complete happiness at the moment as leaders of pugilism.

As he wends his way through Latin-America Louis rapidly is becoming accustomed to a strange new sound, which he had to travel thousands of miles from Madison Square Garden or Yankee Stadium to hear. This is the old Bronx bazoo.

They gave him the bird in Mexico city a few nights ago in an almost unbroken chorus. On this occasion he and Arturo Godoy fandanced 10 two-minute rounds before a few customers, who disregarded Louis' position as heavyweight champion and Godoy's Latin-American lineage.

The champion was greeted rather coldly by the paying clientele in Panama, and Prof. Billy McCarney, who arranged the tour, said today that he had hoped to do something about Louis' appearance against Godoy in Santiago, Chile, but couldn't.

What the professor planned was to keep Godoy out of the ring and put in a couple of the stiffs accompanying Louis. They stand up and throw some punches, and even get knocked down occasionally. But not Godoy. He runs and holds and ducks his head to the floor, and insisted upon going through with the exhibition in his native city.

While a failure artistically, Louis is doing all right financially. He is being paid in advance.

Here at home, Graziano was slapped down a few days ago with revocation of his boxer's license for failing to report two alleged attempts to bribe him with a hundred thousand dollars.

Yesterday, the boxing commission pinned a 30 day suspension and a $500 fine on Robinson for an alleged offense that was similar but not exactly the same. Robinson was charged with having failed to report that he was offered $25,000 not to make the weight for the Marty Servo fight last September.

These two cases involving Graziano and Robinson indicate one thing which perhaps you have noticed. There seems to be an increasing number of strangers in New York.

Graziano and Robinson both were unacquainted with the men who are said to have approached them. Not only do we thus find many strangers at large these days, but they also seem to be rather affluent.

Obviously the thing to do these days is get away from those pauperized old friends, who are always around trying to put on the bite or else brazenly suggesting that you pay back that touch you made a few weeks ago.

You won't get anywhere that way. Friends don't come around with $100,000 and $25,000, and truck like that. Only strangers.

Shelby City Council Gives Nod to Parking Meters

CONTROVERSIAL ORDINANCE GETS SECOND READING

Heated Meet Hears Protests From Merchants.

By JOHN GRAY
N-J State Correspondent

SHELBY—After hearing the public speak for and against parking meters for almost two hours, city council approved the second reading of the parking meter ordinance Monday night at its regular semi-monthly meeting at the city hall.

About 40 persons were present to hear protests against the parking meter plan filed by the Shelby Better Business club and Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce.

C. L. Beal, secretary of the business club, disclosed that the poll taken by the club showed 736 Shelby residents against the meters and 563 for the parking charge plan. Rural residents were against the meters 198 to 56, but only 53 per cent of the 3,180 persons polled voted one way or the other.

He also said 56 merchants were against the installation of meters and 13 were for the project.

* * *

Revenue Not Needed—Beal.

Beal pointed out that if it was additional revenue the city needed, two bills were coming up in the state legislature to give cities aid and that property was being revalued in Shelby for taxes.

A survey made by him showed that 287 persons were employed along Main street from Broadway to Church street. They drove 92 cars to work daily, he said.

Forrest Ellis, business club president, spoke against the meters as well as Frederick McKinney, Jaycee president; Howard Guthrie, Jaycee director, and Jacque Wilkinson, who suggested that the Blackford river be covered and used for a downtown parking lot.

Supporting the move for the meters were Wayne Hodges, former business club official, and E. P. Brunk, Shelby merchants, who pointed out that the meter would rid the city of the all-day parking "hog" who now holds the parking spaces.

* * *

Herlihy Favors Meters.

First Ward Councilman James Herlihy told the opponents of the meters that council was interested primarily in additional revenue and that the meters would bring in revenue without adding to the taxpayers' burden.

Ross Bringman, third ward councilman, pointed out that as far as traffic was concerned the parking space available today was if anything less than 32 years ago when he came here to live.

"At first I was opposed to the meter plan, but since serving on the council I have found that the meter may be the fairest way to give everyone who drives a share of supporting the traffic expenses, he said. "The city hasn't anything to lose by trying the meters on a six-month trial basis."

Bill Cook, fourth ward councilman, who called for the second reading, said that the meters were the only way to be revenue for a new truck or other needs of the city.

* * *

'Revenue Badly Needed.'

Second Ward Councilman E. E. Eckert said that meters would bring in revenue from people who ordinarily would not pay for the police protection for which they are receiving while in the city. It will furnish revenue badly needed, he said.

"The city during the war years has been trying to get along on less revenue with increased expenses and the meters will help to finance some of the cost without putting additional taxes on the people."

Pointing out that the two clubs opposed to the meters had recommended many improvements for the city. Eckert said "the needs that the city has cannot be met from regular revenue but must be met by meter revenue or additional taxes levied."

Among the improvements listed by Eckert as being considered if enough revenue is available is fire and police call system for the entire city and new radio equipment for the police department.

* * *

More Space Needed.

Police Chief Leroy Coffey, who said that as a public official he could not come out for or against meters, disclosed that more public parking space was needed as well as meters. He revealed that a 25 per cent increase could be anticipated in the number of cars in Shelby within a short time.

"Remember the police department functions on a seven-day-a-week basis, 24 hours a day," Coffey said. "With the shortage of manpower it is practically impossible to enforce the two-hour parking on the downtown streets now in force.

During the meeting in the absence of Mayor Frank Long, who is confined to his home because of the flu, Acting Mayor Robert Green appointed Patrolman William (Jack) Coleman as night police captain and Rodney Karr as junior patrolman. Coleman, who has been on the force for 17 years, is the father of 11 children. He will have charge of the night police force in the absence of Chief Coffey. The newly-created position pays $220 per month.

The parking meter ordinance will be brought up at the city council's next meeting March 3 for its third reading and final passage. Motion for the second reading was made by Cook and seconded by Herlihy. All four members present voted in favor of it.

In the absence of Mayor Long, Ross Sipes, councilman at large, presided over the session.

STOPS "DOSING" FOR CONSTIPATION

Now depends on famous cereal to keep "regular"

Are harsh laxatives making your life miserable? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"I had so much trouble with irregularity that it just about drove me crazy. Dosing relieved for a short time...cost me plenty. I was about to give up hope when I heard about KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Believe me, eating this breakfast cereal every day works wonders! Now I depend entirely on ALL-BRAN to keep me regular." Mrs. Frank W. Lange, Vernonia, Oregon.

Eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly has brought lasting relief to thousands suffering constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet. If you have this trouble, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day — and drink plenty of water. You may never have to take another laxative again! Try it! If after 10 days you are not completely satisfied, send the empty carton back to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan, and get double your money back!

ALL-BRAN is not a purgative but a tasty breakfast food made from the vital outer layers of whole wheat. Eat daily either as a cereal, or in muffins. Just ask your grocer for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN.

Little Likelihood of War In Immediate Future, Says Lie

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. —(INS)— Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations stressed anew today that "we must not for a moment allow ourselves to escape the fact that this world must never have another war."

Lie, in an address before the Minneapolis conference of Christians and Jews, declared that the rapid technical advancement of today means that a "war five years or 50 years or 100 years from now would be even more terrible than a war tomorrow."

The big, jovial Norwegian said the possibility of a war in the immediate future between the major powers "can be discarded as a madman's dream." They are too busy at the present, he said, with problems of reconstruction and reconversion.

The UN secretary-general added that the organizational advances already made by the world peace group have helped prevent "armed conflict between the nations" such as occurred after World War I. He continued:

"We can point out, to the pessimists, that the aftermath of the first world war was a series of violent, if minor, wars in all parts of the globe; while we, to a large extent, have avoided similar outbreaks."

Lie pleaded for education to combat ignorance, and urged "intolerance of intolerance" instead of indifference toward persecution of others.

He said the whole world looks to the United States as the real champion of freedom and tolerance.

Newsboy, 13, Presents Shows For Playmates, Loses Money

By GEORGE COMINOS

His ambition to be a producer has cost Leroy Solomon some money. Leroy, who has been carrying The News-Journal for 18 months on Route 103, has presented several shows.

In one instance, the curtains and stage equipment cost him eight dollars. He had an audience of 10, at two cents a head, so he lost money on the deal.

The shows are presented in the garage, which has been called at various times, "The Crystal Cat," "Solomon's Shows," and "Club Moire."

* * *

HIS FAVORITE movies are the "Frankenstein" kind and comedies. The other night Leroy, who is 13, tried his hand at writing a play. So far, he said he had the characters, but no plot. Tentative title is "The Green Vampire."

He said he was presently experimenting with puppet shows. Leroy has been playing the piano 'by ear" for the last three years. He is the son of Mrs. Estella Solomon, 65 Mendota street. Leroy is in the eighth grade at Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

Parker Graham is just 10 years old, but already he knows what he wants to do. His ambition is to be an artist.

Toward this goal he has saved $50, earned as a News-Journal carrier on Route 95. He hasn't chosen his college yet.

During his 15 weeks on the job he has bought a hat and coat and saving now to buy a suit.

Parker, a fifth grade student at Hedges school, is on the second team in basketball and played first string football. He intends to try for track. In recent weeks he has been learning to pole vault, using his mother's steel clothes rod.

* * *

HIS FAVORITE HOBBY is drawing, but he builds model boats and airplanes, the latest being a Stinson monoplane.

Parker is a member of Cub Pack 8, goes to the YMCA workshop where so far he has made a smoking stand and a plaque. His preference in movies is for the action type, "cowboy and war pictures.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Graham, rear of 366 South Diamond street.

Some of the money Minerva Scott earns is used for clothes, but none on hats. "I don't like hats," she said.

She also spends her earnings on movies, dances, candy and sodas. She said she tries to put some money in the bank every week, "but sometimes I miss."

Minerva who is 15, and a sophomore at Senior high school, carries The News-Journal on Route 39.

Minerva has about 500 buttons. Collecting various kinds of buttons is her hobby.

She plays forward in basketball, and likes to watch football games.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Scott, 436 Hammond avenue.

Ronnie Rahall, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rahall, 297 South Main street, has been on Route 40 for the past year.

He puts his earnings in the bank every week—that is, what he doesn't spend on movies, dances, and for making model airplanes. His latest plane is a Mustang. He's now saving to buy a gasoline motor for it.

HIS SPORTS are football, basketball and swimming. Ronnie is in the eighth grade at St. Peter's parochial school. He was captain of the eighth grade football team.

He goes to the YMCA for swimming and basketball and attends Friendly House.

Reese, Stanky Safely Signed

NEW YORK —(INS)— Shortstop Pee Wee Reese and Second-Baseman Ed Stanky were safely signed today and ready for delivery at Havana, Cuba, as the Brooklyn Dodgers prepared to take off for spring training.

The famed infield combination came into the fold yesterday, on the eve of departure for Miami, en route to the Cuban capital, where the Dodgers will do their conditioning for a renewed battle with the St. Louis Cardinals and all comers in the National league.

Manager Leo Durocher said he figured the Dodgers would have "a grand ball club, if the pitching comes around," but admitted some concern over the outlook at first base.

Durocher will try Ed Stevens, Stretch Schultz, Walter Sussi and at least three others at the position.

The Dodger pilot also said he was paticularly eager to see Arky Vaughan back at third base again, "and if he hasn't lost too much of his speed our problem there is solved."

Indiana Hoosiers Rap Northwestern

CHICAGO — (INS) — Indiana's Hoosiers held a firm grip on third place in the Western conference today.

The Hoosiers defeated Northwestern last night, 69 to 43, for their fifth victory in eight conference starts.

Minnesota scored a 59 to 55 triumph over Iowa. Purdue repelled the Michigan Wolverines, 56 to 45.

Duquesne Gallops To 16th Straight

NEW YORK —(UP)— Duquesne, only undefeated college basketball team in the country, added to its record last night with a 63 to 39 conquest of Valparaiso for its 16th victory.

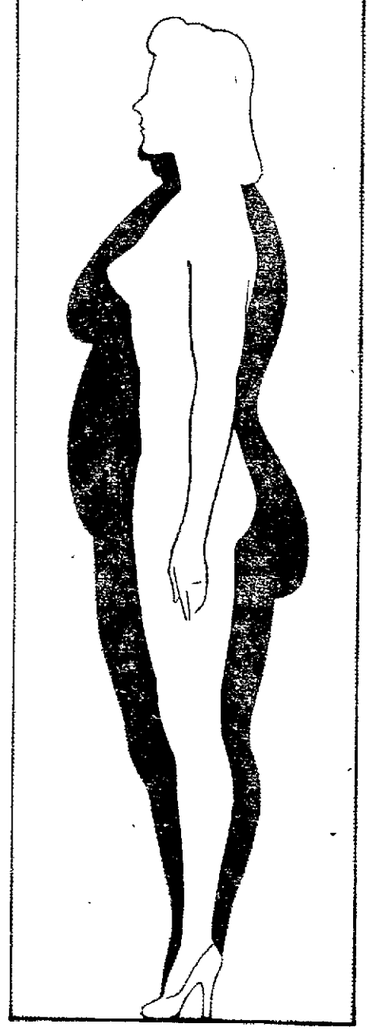
THE FAMOUS
WONDER WHEAT BREAD
REDUCING PLAN!
That "Burns Off" Fat Without Drugs or Violent Exercise!
Based on the Same Sound Medical Principle for Slenderizing Proved So Effective by Thousands of Women Everywhere!
NO STARVING! NO DRUGS! NO VIOLENT EXERCISE!

DON'T HAVE A "3-BUMP" FIGURE



Get At Your Grocer's Now!

What It Is And How It Works

If you are overweight due to excess fat, here now is a way you can reduce to that normally slim, military-looking, trim figure you should have. A way not only proved, but requiring no drugs or violent exercises.

And—unless there is some abnormal condition, in which case you should see a doctor—it is guaranteed to "burn off" excess fat because based on a proved principle of medical science.

Of course, check with your doctor first, and then, in the interest of health and a better figure—why not do now what you know you should do—start today and get rid of some of those ugly rolls of fat that now give you an unsightly "3-Bump" figure.

The whole idea of this plan is to provide good food in an amount which permits you to slenderize without medication or strenuous exercise.

"Burns Off" Excess Fat

There's no dosing with racking salts or drugs you know nothing about. No pulling yourself to pieces with violent exercising. And no fainting on a lettuce leaf. This way you even eat many desserts!

You follow the scientific principle proved by doctors that to reduce safely "avoid acidosis" you must get at least a pound of carbohydrates—which provides "the flame fat burns in"—for every pound of fat you burn off.

Simple and Convenient

And it's all so simple. Any woman who can multiply the weight she would like to be by 15 and then subtract 400 can do it.

It is the famous Wonder Wheat Bread Reducing Plan proved so amazingly effective by thousands of women before the war.

And you can get it at your grocer's with every loaf of pre-war quality Wonder Wheat Bread—containing Vitamin B_1.

This vitamin is one science has found necessary to help transform the carbohydrates in bread into "the flame fat burns in."

Then, too, this new Wonder Wheat Bread is made with a specially blended flour which retains moisture better than ordinary whole wheat flour. So you'll find this new Wonder Wheat Bread fresh and delicious!

Just ask your grocer for the Wonder Wheat Bread and the Reducing Plan today—start burning off unsightly fat tomorrow. Supplies limited—get your copy at once.

Continental Baking Co., Inc.

NOTE: Wonder Wheat Bread is not a reducing bread—Wonder Wheat Bread simply supplies carbohydrates and Vitamin B_1 needed to help burn up fat.

—By Bennet Cerf

The man with the deep-set, smouldering eyes and the Desperate Desmond moustache glared savagely at his assistant. "Are the hot irons ready?" he asked.

"They are," cowered his assistant. "They are red hot."

"Is the oil burning?"

"Yes, sir, it is searing."

"Is the victim tied securely?"

"She can't move a muscle."

"Is the white sheet fastened over her?"

"It is, sir."

The villainous-looking man gave a fiendish chuckle and concluded, "Okay, Toots, give her the $3 permanent."

Oswald Treager figured that his little sugar pie had been dangling him at the end of her string long enough, and insisted that they be married at once. "I'd love to," she told him, "but you know perfectly well that if I marry you I will lose my job." "We'll keep it a secret," promised Oswald. "That's all very well," she conceded, "but suppose we have a baby?" "Oh," said Oswald, "I am perfectly willing to tell the baby."

CIO LEADERS STUDY MERGER

Murray Meets With Officials To Consider AFL Proposal To Form Single Union.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — CIO President Philip Murray met today with top CIO leaders to consider an AFL proposal for ultimate merger of the two big American labor groups of more than 12 million members.

Murray came to Washington from the steel wage negotiations in Pittsburgh to hold the important one-day conference with CIO Secretary-Treasurer James Carey and the organization's nine vice presidents.

Since the meeting was called, the AFL extended its invitation to discuss "organic unity" between the labor bodies. The federation named a five-man committee, including Mine Chief John L. Lewis, to meet with the CIO.

Murray has maintained strict silence on the AFL action at the mid-winter session of its executive council in Miami. Other CIO sources have predicted, however, that he will appoint a similar committee to talk with the AFL delegation.

The federation's merger proposal grew out of an earlier suggestion by Murray that the two organizations unite on a program to combat anti-labor legislation. AFL leaders said this was not enough and proposed "organic unity."

Action Unlikely.

Labor leaders believe an early merger is impossible, even though an AFL-CIO group gets together for peace talks. They say the best that can be hoped for is that such discussions may lay the groundwork for consolidation in the future.

One of the major obstacles to any merger is the structural difference of the two groups. The AFL is composed primarily of craft unions based on workers' skills. The CIO has industrial unions covering all employes in a particular industry.

AREA SCOUTS KEEP ACTIVE

Activities in Galion and Ashland comprised yesterday's area scouting calendar. A district court of honor is scheduled in Galion today.

At Galion 13 scouters last night received certificates at the completion of a six-week training course for scout leadership conducted at the Galion high school. M. H. Moyer, C. B. Woodburn, R. Campbell, R. Shaw, C. L. Alles, E. Brooke, Paul E. Poth, R. A. Godfrey, O. J. Godfrey, W. Y. McCulloch, G. A. Berting, H. V. Nussbaum and J. R. Crowl received their certificates.

A second course on "specialization" will start March 3, Ray Turner, Mansfield assistant scout executive, said today.

With 31 scouts and their dads present the new quarters of Ashland Scout Troop No. 5 were dedicated yesterday. Donated by Don Clark, the quarters comprise a two-story centrally heated garage at the rear of 608 Center street.

During the meeting it was announced by Scoutmaster Virgil Wertz that the troop would go on an overnight hike Feb. 21-22. Dads were invited to spend the second night with their sons. This hike will mark the tenth consecutive month that Troop No. 5 of Mansfield has gone on an overnight. This is believed to be a record for the area.

The Galion district court of honor will be held today at 7.30 at Peace Lutheran church with R. A. Godfrey presiding.

Rutter Honored At Banquet for Riddell Workers

BUCYRUS—Headed by Frank Rutter, 67, who last week completed 50 consecutive years' service with the W. A. Riddell company, 26 old timers were honored by the company at a banquet over which President C. T. McConnell of Cleveland presided.

The 26 all have records of from 25 to 48 years.

Rutter, when 16, went to work for the Frye-Sheckler-Hoover company, which later became the American Clay Machinery company and still later the Hadfield-Penfield company until Riddell took it over more than 10 years ago.

For the first 12 years Rutter worked in the forge shop where he was under his father, but after that time Rutter was promoted to foreman and his father was working for him.

Rutter said he has no plans to retire, preferring "to work another 50 years." He added, "I couldn't stand loafing. I'll work as long as the company wants me and I am able."

The topic leader was Mrs. George Henkel when the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society of Trinity Lutheran church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Albrecht. Devotions were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Henry Young. A letter from Dr. Fricke who is enroute to India, was read by Mrs. H. F. Kile.

The program also included an article read by Mrs. A. P. Sherer; a playlet presented by Mrs. George Cook, Mrs. George Henkel and Mrs. Young, and a duet sang by Mrs. Joe Seif and Mrs. Lester Eichhorn, with Mrs. Bertha Dapper at the piano. The business session was in charge of Mrs. C. H. Helfrich. Next Friday, World Day of Prayer will be observed at the church.

A reading by Mrs. Edith Thayer, and piano solos played by Jimmy Neumann and Elaine Hottenroth comprised the program for the meeting of the Ladies' Aid society at Peace Lutheran parish house, Thursday afternoon. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. C. M. Baehr, and devotions were given by Rev. Philip E. Auer. Hostesses who served refreshments were Misses Anna and Emma Schuch, Mrs. L. M. Liggett and Mrs. Sylvia Edler.

Mrs. B. P. Mansfield, who had charge of the program for the meeting of the W. S. C. S. at First Methodist church Thursday afternoon read an informative article. Two selections were sung by Mrs. N. R. Somerville, and the meeting was presided over by the vice president, Mrs. Robert Moulton. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. W. E. Taylor. Section A served refreshments.

Members of the Friendship class of the Market Street Methodist church met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Russell Fisher, Harding way west. Business was in charge of Mrs. Garnet Shilling and the devotions were led by the class teacher, Mrs. T. A. Johnston. Contests and refreshments were provided by the hostess.

Kenneth M. Petri, Galion attorney, was guest speaker for the monthly social meeting of the Builders' class of the First Evangelical United Brethren church. This was held Friday night in the A. A. rooms on the public square. Petri gave highlights of his trip to South America. The meeting was presided over by Lloyd Turner. Arrangements for the social hours were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Laughbaum and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Henkel.

Miss Isabel Monroe, deputy grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star, was honored by Naomi chapter, her home chapter of which she is a past worthy matron, at the regular meeting recently in Masonic Temple.

When the meeting was opened, Mrs. Ray Debolt sang a welcome song to Miss Monroe. This was followed with initiation service for two candidates. During the initiatory work, selections were sung by a trio composed of Mrs. Chester Zimmerman, Mrs. Franklin Decker and Miss Virginia Rensch. The meeting was presided over by the worthy matron, Mrs. Martin Shawber.

A program in honor of Lincoln's birthday followed the meeting and was presented by the officers of the order, assisted by Harriet Cotsamire, Virginia Shaw, Grace Stowe, Viola Marshall, Marjorie Lulu Kunkel. The evening concluded with a refreshment hour.

Members of Junior circle, Child Conservation league, held a Come-Dressed-as-You-Are party recently at the home of Mrs. Murral Longstreth. They responded to roll call by reading humorous Valentines. Business was conducted by Mrs. Longstreth, vice president, and devotions were led by Mrs. Philip Nepmann. The remainder of the time was spent in contests and games, and refreshments were served.

Initiation was held by the Woman's Relief corps, Tuesday afternoon at the armory, with Miss Maybe Baldinger presiding. Relief work for the past two weeks was estimated at $50, and child welfare work at $4. A letter of thanks was read from the Soldiers' home at Sandusky, for the Christmas gifts sent by the corps.

Green Opens Union Attack Against New Labor Bills

LEADER RAPS MOVE AGAINST CLOSED SHOP

Lilienthal, Rent Ceilings, OPA Also Hold Attention of Congressmen.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — AFL President William Green opened labor's attack against pending strike-control bills today by denouncing them as threats to industrial peace and America's world position.

First labor witnesses to appear before the senate labor committee, he made a sweeping indictment of proposed labor reforms, endorsing only one minor provision of one bill. He heatedly condemnned the rest with such terms as "vindicative," "government by injunction," and "propagandistic hogwash."

Green bitterly attacked the Republican-sponsored Ball-Taft-Smith bill, saying it would seriously weaken the nation's industrial structure. He also assailed measures to outlaw the closed shop, to prohibit industrywide bargaining and to overhaul the Wagner act.

Other congressional developments:

Lilienthal—Two western senators, Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Warren Magnuson, (D-Wash.) charged that private power interests in the east were responsible for the bitter fight against David E. Lilienthal's appointment to head the atomic energy committee.

OPA—Rep. Clarence Cannon, (D-Mo.) defends OPA charged that Republicans are seeking a premature death for rent and sugar controls by trying to deprive OPA of vitally needed operating funds. Cannon blasted the GOP as the house prepared to take up legislation that would, among other things, recapture $9,000,000 of OPA's remaining funds.

Rent Control—A top member of the senate Republican leadership, who asked that his name be withheld, threw his weight behind legislation to boost rent ceilings 10 per cent. Republican Sensators Homer E. Capehart, Ind., and Harry P. Cain, Wash., also said they probably would back a flat 10 per cent boost.

Eisler—The house Unamerican activities committee asked the house to bring contempt-of-congress charges against Gerhart Eisler, alleged Russian secret agent. Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-N. J.) said he was convinced the German refugee would be cited "overwhelmingly for refusing to be sworn as a committee witness.

Tax Cuts Fading.

Taxes—Chairman Harold Knutson of the house ways and means committee said prospects are diminishing for making income tax cuts retroactive to Jan. 1. The Minnesota Republican, who favors a flat 20 per cent cut for most taxpayers, said a long fight over the new federal budget may make it necessary to fix July 1 as the effective date for income tax reduction.

Budget — Senate Republicans were summoned to a conference to discuss the $6,000,000,000 cut in President Truman's fiscal 1948 budget voted by the joint congressional budget committee, one influential GOP senator predicted the senate would pare this down to about $4,500,000,000.

House Favors Slash.

The house, however, was expected to approve the full $6,000,000,000 reduction. The house rules committee met to prepare the way for house action Thursday. The committee was expected to approve a closed rule to prohibit amendments from the floor.

In his testimony before the senate labor committee, the only proposed reform endorsed by AFL President Green was one of several Wagner act amendments advocated by Sen. Joseph H. Ball (R-Minn.). It would require recognition of a craft bargaining unit, if the majority of the workers in the craft wished.

U. N. CHARGES RAP ALBANIA

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(INS)—The United Nations security council was to hear Britain charge Albania with responsibility for the death of 44 British seamen today before undertaking the crucial clash between the United States and Russia over an atomic control system.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, British delegate to the council, was to present the British charge that illegal Albanian mines in the Corfu channel resulted in the damage to two British warships last year.

The council was called into a special morning session to begin consideration of the British-Albanian dispute after Hysni Kapo, Albanian representative, arrived in New York over the week end. Britain contends that Albania should be required to pay indemnities for the loss of life and the ship sinkings.

The decisive debate on the initial report of the UN atomic energy commission which embodies the American-sponsored Baruch plan for creation of an atomic control agency will occur at the afternoon meeting.

Soviet Spokesman Andrei Gromyko will be called upon to present specific demands for amendments to the recommendations in the report. He is expected to move formally that the security council initiate at once the writing of an international convention outlawing atomic weapon production and providing for the destruction of existing atom bombs.

Warren R. Austin, U S council delegate, is expected to require the Soviet Union to furnish the burden of proof of the need for modifying the commission's report.

COURT SENTENCES THREE IN GALION

GALION—Three cases of drunk and disorderly conduct were heard Monday in Mayor William Amann's court.

John Shepherd pleaded guilty to the charge, and was fined $5 and costs, and given a 30-day jail sentence. The jail sentence will be suspended if fine and costs are paid.

A. E. Clemens also entered a plea of guilty to the same charge, and was fined $10 and costs and given a 30-day jail sentence. Fine, costs and jail sentence were suspended providing Clemens left town in two hours.

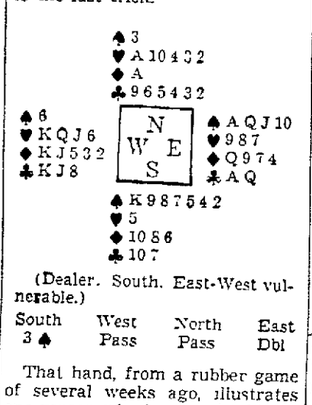
Mable Baum of Galion also was heard on the same charge, and was fined $5 and costs, and given a 30-day jail sentence. The sentence was suspended with payment of fine and costs.

MIAMI HAS BIRTHDAY

OXFORD—(U.P.)—Miami university marked its 138th anniversary yesterday, but there were no special programs on the campus commemorating the occasion.

Barclay On Bridge

"PLEASE TELL us if there is a correct time to declare honors," asks Mrs. Jay B. Harding, of St. Petersburg, Florida. "My husband and I have been used to calling them after the hand is finished, but we are playing with some new people who declare them before starting to play the hand." Once in a great while that question has come from various parts of the world where this column is published. So, for all doubters, let it be stated definitely that honors should never be proclaimed until after the last card has been played to the last trick.



(Dealer. South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
3 ♠	Pass	Pass	Dbl

That hand, from a rubber game of several weeks ago, illustrates one reason why honors should not be proclaimed before the play of the hand.

Under the Laws of Contract Bridge, honors are scored by the side which holds them—whether it be the declarer's side or the defenders.

East on this deal had the same idea as the friends of the Hardings, so before his partner made the opening lead he announced his possession of the 100 honors.

"That gives unauthorized information to your partner about your hand," exclaimed South to West, "so I can call a lead from his hand. Lead a diamond."

After the discussion subsided, the defenders decided that this was logical and gave in. No book of laws was present, but they all reached the right point on a basis of plain common sense.

After the diamond lead to the A. South scored the heart A, ruffed a heart, ruffed a diamond with the dummy's lone spade, and so lost three tricks in spades, two in clubs and only one in diamonds. If West had been permitted to lead a spade, one more diamond trick would have been lost, setting the contract three instead of two. West said that, if East had not mentioned his honors he would have led a heart, and the contract would have been down only two, as it was after the diamond lead was called.

Naval Reserve Needs 140 Men

Some 140 openings for enlistment in Mansfield Division 195, organized naval reserve, were announced today by Lt Comdr A E Heiser, in charge of recruiting.

Among the openings are 20 for petty officer second class, 20 for petty officer third class, and 1000 for first and second class firemen and seamen. Aviation rates are included in the openings he said. The division also needs a chief radioman.

GIRL SENTENCED

WARREN—(U.P.)—Mrs. Marguerite White, 17, was sentenced by Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith yesterday to serve one to 20 years in the women's reformatory at Marysville for the fatal shooting of her brother, Lee Osman, 13. She pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

ATTACK ENDS COURT TRUCE

Jackson Blasts Colleagues For Portal-to-Portal Pay Rulings.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The eight months truce on the Supreme Court bench was broken today after Justice Robert H. Jackson blasted the majority of his colleagues for their portal-to-portal rulings.

The associate justice in effect revived his feud with Justice Hugo L. Black by renewing his attack on the court's 1945 Jewell Ridge coal decision, which granted portal pay to the soft coal miners.

Jackson cited the Jewell Ridge case in his attack on Black last June when he accused the latter of voting with the majority in favor of the coal miners, who had been represented by Black's former law partner.

Lashes at Bloc.

While Jackson did not mention Black by name he lashed out at the bloc within the high tribunal of which Black has generally been recognized as spokesman.

Jackson's outburst came in a concurring opinion to Black's majority opinion of yesterday, holding railroad brakemen trainees not subject to protection of the minimum wage law.

He expounded the basic theoretical split on labor cases in the high tribunal by reviewing rulings of the past few years, including that in the Jewell Ridge case, the Tennessee coal case which granted portal pay to iron miners, and the more recent Mt. Clemens Pottery case extending the portal doctrine to other industries.

Jackson was absent in Europe when the pottery case was decided.

As a result of these and other cases interpreting the fair labor standards law, Jackson declared, many collective bargaining agreements are not today "worth the paper they are written on."

Instead, he added, "interminable litigation, stimulated by a contingent reward to attorneys, is necessitated by the present state of the court's decisions."

Cites Customs.

Jackson said the effect of the court's rulings was to leave out of account "the customs and contracts of an industry" and by "somewhat predictable" interpretations of the law "put industry and labor in a legal strait jacket of our own design."

He emphasized that in the Jewell Ridge case the majority had upset "relationships (which) were fixed by a deep rooted custom" to uphold the validity of portal pay.

Jackson indicated his disagreement with the court's rulings insofar as the law had been stretched to regulate industry-labor relations.

He said he believed the Fair Labor Standards act was passed only to establish a minimum wage and hour rate for employes.

Regulation of the complex labor relations of this nation, he stated, had better be left to collective bargaining under the provisions of the National Labor Relations act.

FACES LIFE TERM

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—William J. Jefferson, 29, faced life imprisonment today for the eviction slaying of Wash Larry, 38, following his conviction of second degree murder by a three-judge court. Arthur Clark, a special policeman, who was convicted of second degree murder Dec. 10 and given a life term, related he hired five men including Jefferson, to threaten tenants who sought OPA protection from rent increases. Larry, who was one of Clark's tenants, was found clubbed to death Sept. 10.

WESTERN LEADS IN ATTENDANCE

The Western avenue school topped other Mansfield public schools in attendance in January with a 94.88 per cent score, principals' reports to the board of education showed today.

The school had no truancy cases and 59 cases of tardiness.

Newman school was second in attendance with 94.32 per cent and Prospect was third with 93.97 per cent.

Average attendance for all schools was 91.99 per cent. With 6,475 pupils enrolled, 2,939 were neither absent nor tardy in January. Four schools — Newman, Prospect, Western, and Woodland —reported no truancy. The Newman school has the best tardiness record with only eightcases.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO HALT SPORTS BRIBES

Military Affairs Committee Opens Hearings on Four Bonus Proposals.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Teeth—big, sharp teeth—were being placed in Ohio's law to guarantee clean sports today.

While most legislative attention centered on committee hearings on bonus proposals and a proposed increase of financial aid to schools, the house quietly and unanimously passed and sent to the senate a bill which would make it a major crime to bribe or attempt to bribe any sporting event, amateur or professional.

The vote was 115-to-0 on the Wood-Shaw bill, which provides a penalty of a $1,000 to $5,000 fine, one to five years in the penitentiary, or both for any bribe, solicitation of a bribe, acceptance of a bribe, or offer of a bribe.

The all-inclusive measure applies to "any participant, coach, manager or other person in any way connected with any game, contest, or sporting event.

Meanwhile, the house military affairs committee opened hearings on its own four bonus proposals today. The proposals call for a constitutional amendment, requiring ratification by the people in November, of a 300 to 600 million bonus to Ohio veterans of World War II.

Studies Bond Problem.

A senate military affairs subcommittee has been wrestling for three weeks with the problem of how to retire the necessary bonds without reaching a decision. It will continue its hearings on proposals to repay the bonds through a real estate tax levy, increases in the sales tax, the cigaret tax, the imposition of a tax on horse racing, or even a state income tax.

The house taxation committee is holding hearings today and tomorrow on bills to levy an extra cent-a-gallon liquid fuel tax and to extend the liquid fuel, cigaret and .65-mill utility excise taxes.

The senate education committee again tackles the Daniels-Cramer school bill to provide approximately 100 millions a year to the school foundation fund. By comparison, the previous all-time high, in 1946, was only 59 millions a year. Proponents again will be given a chance to advance their arguments for the bill.

Conservation Bill Up.

Tomorrow, the senate conservation committee has promised action on the Ohio post-war program commission's bill to unify all conservation activities under one new state department. The bill is opposed by sportsmen on the ground their present "conservation commission," which would become the new department's wildlife division, is supported entirely by hunting and fishing license fees, and therefore should not be brought under other control.

The house last night referred to the reference committee — frequent graveyard for unwanted measures — a resolution calling upon the federal congress to assume all cost of the operation of the Miami and other conservancy districts.

Bills introduced in the senate, which observes no bill deadline, included measures to authorize the state education director to contract with State University trustees for the training of teachers for handicapped children, and to create a three-member state chiropractic board to license Ohio chiropractors.

Uni Club Crowns Champs Tomorrow

The 1947 bridge champions of the Mansfield University club will be decided Wednesday night when the final session of the tournament is held at the Mansfield-Leland.

As the final rubbers start, Paul Cropper and P. F. Haley are leading the competition. Keith B. Miller and E. A. Eckert are the nearest challengers.

Attempts to Halt Lathers' Walkout

NEW YORK—(INS)—A move to bring a quick end to a strike of 1,000 metal lathers which threatens to tie up 50 million dollars of new construction was taken today by Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Representatives of the union and the building industry were summoned to meet today with a committee headed by Charles H. Tuttle, former U. S. district attorney to seek a solution of the difficulty.

FARM BUREAU GROUPS NAMED

Sub-committees to be responsible for the 1947 employes' association program were named last night by the program committee of the Richland County Farm Bureau employes association, Gail Hammett, organization director, reported.

The action was taken during a discussion meeting at the Farm Bureau office.

The committees appointed and the departments from which they were chosen are:

Educational—Gail Hammett, organization; Dean Tolles, machinery; Kenneth Stover, Shiloh branch.

Recreation—Mary Lou Osbun, Mansfield office; Percy McLarnon, Lexington branch; Bonnie Pennell, Shiloh branch.

Refreshments—C. Hostetter, insurance, D. C. McGucken, petroleum; Cliff Secrist, Bellville branch.

Plans worked out by the general committee last night will make each subcommittee member responsible for his assigned part of the regular monthly meetings on a revolving basis.

Members of the general program committee are Carl Smith, R. A. Williams, Melvin Mowery, Harold Stover, Geneva Wells and Hammett.

FOURTH DAUGHTER BORN TO PRINCESS

AMSTERDAM —(U.P.)— Fifty-one gun salutes booming in the freezing dawn announced today the birth of a fourth daughter to Crown Princess Juliana, continuing the all-feminine line of succession to the Dutch throne.

The six-pound, nine ounce girl was born to 37-year-old Juliana at 1:30 a. m. in Soestdijk Castle, 25 miles from Amsterdam.

There has been no male ruler of The Netherlands since 1890, when Queen Wilhelmina succeeded her father, King Willem III. The House of Orange has become entirely feminine. Juliana is the queen's only child. She and Prince Bernhard have three other daughters of whom Princess Beatrix, born in 1938, is the eldest.

New City Firm Incorporated

Incorporation papers have been issued to Mansfield Beverages, Inc., a new firm which will distribute miscellaneous beverages, press dispatches from Columbus said today.

Incorporated for $50,000, the company plans to operate a plant here, but details haven't been completed, according to Atty. Arthur W. Negin, agent for the firm. Listed as incorporators were Helen M. McIntyre and J. C. Kalish.

Also incorporated was the George Broderick Post No. 291, veterans of Foreign Wars, Shelby, as a non-profit organization. Edward Shaw, Shelby, was the organization's agent.

State Suspends Liquor Employe

A 30-day disciplinary suspension has been given Joseph Letizia, a provisional clerk in the Mansfield retail liquor store, the Ohio Civil Service commission was notified today. The suspension started Feb. 15, the Associated Press reported.

William Thull, manager of the store, said the suspension was evidently given because of "some infraction of the rules" but that he didn't know what infraction might have caused the suspension.

Only 8 Books Needed to Fill Library's 'Treasure Chest'

Only eight more books are needed to fill the "treasure chest" in the Public library's children's room. When these are donated the chest will be ready for overseas shipment to children whose libraries were destroyed during the war.

The project for 330 books was begun a month ago in cooperation with similar projects being promoted throughout the country under the auspices of the Treasure Chests of America. Also to be included in the chest is a scrapbook of letters and pictures of book donors.

"We would like to have all books in by the end of February so that we can send the list to the New York office and get the shipping label," Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian, said.

"Children who have given books and who have not sent in their letters or pictures are urged to do so," she continued.

The scrapbook, Miss Leonard added, will be sent along with the books. She said she hopes the recipients will return letters and pictures to the library.

Only children who have sent material for the scrapbook are the members of the third grade at Hedges school and Carol Jennings, 9, of 261 Walter avenue.

Most recent donors of books for the chest are Woodland school, Miss Martha Kindle's third grade at Hedges school, Tommy Glassner, 135 Brinkerhoff avenue, and the Memorial board of the library.

Lifelong Area Resident Dies After Illness

GALION — Mrs. Maude E. Marshman, 74, who lived eight miles east of Galion in Springfield township, Richland county, died yesterday at her home. She had been in ill health for the past year.

Mrs. Marshman was born at Iberia on Sept. 2, 1879, the daughter of Thomas and Helen Sharrock Timson. Her marriage to Charles T. Marshman took place July 22, 1900.

Surviving with the husband are the following children: Donald, Rupert, and Lloyd, all of Mansfield; Paul of Cincinnati; Harry of Honolulu, Hawaii; Mrs. Loren Kitchen and Mrs. Robert Earick, both at home; Mrs. Howard Carver of Lexington. Also living are 16 grandchildren; one great grandchild; four brothers, Charles and Earl Timson, both of Iberia; Hershel Timson of Galion. Clarence Timson of North Lewisburg, Ohio; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Dady of McEwen, Tenn.

Mrs. Marshman was a member of the Methodist church of Martel.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Volk funeral home. Burial will be in Iberia cemetery.

VERNON CUTSHALL

GALION—Word has been received here of the death of Vernon Cutshall, 14-year-old son of J. Darius and Evelyn Court Cutshall, former Galion residents.

According to the message received by Galion relatives, Vernon's death was the result of an automobile accident Feb. 14 in Woodland, Calif.

Vernon was born in Galion on Sept. 1, 1932, and had finished the sixth grade of school when he moved to California in 1944 with his parents.

Surviving besides the parents are three sisters and a brother, all living in California; his grandfather, C. E. Court of South Jefferson street, Galion. Clarence B. Court and Mrs. Joan Mortimer of Galion are uncle and aunt, respectively, of the boy.

No particulars of the accident were received. When the family lived in Galion, a smaller child was killed by an automobile in front of their home at 246 South Jefferson street.

VET 'ON-FARM' TEACHER HIRED

Byron Bricker of Shelby officially was employed last night by the Shiloh board of education to teach the veterans "on-the-farm" training class there, County Supt. Boyd Robinson reported today.

The board selected 25 students for the class from among 32 applicants. All of those selected were in a self proprietorship category and live within seven or eight miles of Shiloh.

The elimination of some of the applicants was necessary because 25 students was considered the limit for one instructor to handle. The instructor must call on the students regularly on their farm besides giving eight hours of class room instruction each week, Robinson said.

Bricker's contract will date from Feb. 1, Robinson said.

He will begin visiting the farms this week. To gain time lost in getting started, he will hold two classes next week.

AUDITOR SAYS CITY OVERPAID SALARIES

COLUMBUS—(AP)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today announced findings totaling $1,624.79 against 25 employes of the Portsmouth General hospital for overpayment of salaries in 1945 and 1946.

Ferguson said a city ordinance of Oct. 11, 1945, set pay rates for various hospital employes, "but the ordinance apparently was disregarded when payrolls were prepared."

The findings were contained in an examinor's report on the city of Portsmouth covering the period from Jan. 1, 1945, to April 30, 1946.

workers with acetylene torches were cutting the wreckage to release passengers who were pined down. The injured were being carried away on stretchers.

"One woman was calling for her daughter, who was in a car that went down a 100-foot embankment.

"It was a pretty weird sight and made me feel shaky. My two brothers, who drove from Altoona with me, became so nervous they could hardly hold still."

Rabbi Gives Aid.

Witnesses told of seeing Rabbi George B. Lieberman of McKinley Ave., temple, Canton, Ohio, praying and calming passengers in the car at the bottom of the embankment. The rabbi was en route with his wife to Atlantic City.

Some passengers were obviously dazed as they crawled out of the wreckage. A couple bespoke thanks over being only slightly injured.

Allen K. Parrish of Birmingham, Mich., and Frank W. Goldy of Detroit who had made each other's acquaintance on the train, were resting on a coach seat, covered with blankets. Commenting that he had received only a small cut on one hand, Parrish said:

"We are a picture of gratitude."

Goldy, who had an overcoat on over his pajamas, nodded assent as he looked around at some of the casualties. Goldy said he had a minor leg injury but "I lost my shoes."

The casualties were removed to Altoona by train.

The line's two eastbound tracks were open but the westbound pair were blocked. Traffic was rerouted.

Lynam said the wreck occurred on a long slope leading to Cresson mountain—the highest and most picturesque of the Alleghenies in this area. Its altitude is 2,100 feet.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1947

"Education is contagious," says Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard—but it does seem that Nature sometimes provides immunity.

Yes, this is National Brotherhood week—and it will be all right for you to speak to someone you see frequently, even if you have never been formally introduced.

"Security comes first," says Gen. George C. Marshall, and that means a policy of military training backed up with real power. It is a hard choice, but a necessary one, until such time as the world becomes more civilized.

Time For County To Plan Ahead

TODAY is the time to plan for tomorrow. As far as Richland county is concerned "tomorrow" may come three years, five years, or even 10 years from now. But the day is definitely coming when there will have to be a new county jail or the present one will have to be practically rebuilt. Likewise, in the not too distant future the county will have to build a new courthouse or thoroughly renovate the present structure.

It is unlikely that the county will consider either of these projects right now. First consideration needs be given the tuberculosis sanatorium for which funds have already been voted. Weight must also be given to the fact that a number of new elementary schools are to be built soon in the community. So is a new Friendly House. And there is still a shortage of building materials.

Certainly the county would not want to engage, at the moment, in any further building program which might conceivably interfere with the erection of new and badly needed homes.

However, there is nothing to prevent the county commissioners from planning RIGHT NOW for the day when better accommodations will be required for the jail and for county offices. The planning will be relatively inexpensive. Competent and complete study will be necessary to determine whether one new county building can be erected which will be more efficient and less expensive than renovation of one or both of the present ones.

A day may come, too, as it did back in the early 'thirties when the federal government will suddenly decide to launch a public works program. When that day comes, if ever, the county should have its plans ready. If such a day never does come the plans remain vital to a forward-looking county administration.

Write a Letter -- But Sign Your Name

IGNORING of anonymous communications has been such a long-time newspaper practice that it seems useless to again direct attention of readers to the requirement that name and address of the writer be signed to letters submitted for publication.

The News-Journal invites brief letters from readers, expressing views on subjects of public interest but requires that name and address be printed with each letter.

Customary restrictions are that letters submitted for publication be free from libelous statements; personal aspersions or attacks; religious or racial discussions of a derogatory, sectarian or intolerant type; partisan or personal political comment; obvious misstatements, or letters lacking in fair play and good taste.

Space limitations require that letters be as short as possible, with 200 to 250 words as the extreme limit. So write a letter, addressed to "The Editor," on some timely subject about which you are thinking—but be sure to sign your name and include your address.

Those Alluring Seed Catalogs

WHEN you open your new seed catalog, don't immediately start dreaming about balmy skies and rows of iris and peonies. Take a minute to remember the recent cold snap. It seems now that the blizzard-y period was short, but remember what those few days did to certain food prices. A protracted cold spell in any winter can send the prices of out-of-state fruits and vegetables soaring.

Thus, the wise gardener will leave plenty of room for tomatoes and beans and corn which may be canned. He will have himself several rows of potatoes as well as seasonal lettuce, radishes, onions and carrots.

This year, of course, everybody will want to let go a little more on snapdragons, glads and other colorful blooms. Those seed catalogs will certainly help you "let go," too. But don't forget it's better to have the library table bare of one bouquet than the pantry shelves bare of edibles next winter.

Plenty of Books for Everybody

THE PAST year saw 7,735 books published in this country, nearly a hundred a month more than in 1945. England outdistanced this country with almost 11,500 volumes, an increase of 5,000 over the previous year. Fiction led in both countries, though there were proportionately fewer novels among the British titles than in the United States.

The reading habit was vitalized and strengthened during the war years when transportation difficulties kept people at home. It seems to have maintained a healthy post-war existence. The increase in publishing is all the more noteworthy in the face of paper shortages in both countries, and especially in Great Britain. This wide-spread book habit is distinctly a modern phenomenon, and one that must be considered significant in any study of today's world.

Check-up Fire Fighting Facilities

MANY municipalities, especially smaller ones, are suffering from inadequate fire protection. During the war, shortages of man power and material resulted in deterioration of equipment. Houses and buildings in some communities were allowed to run down and in many cases became overcrowded, increasing the fire hazard. There have been an unusual number of serious fires.

There is need for local study of fire fighting facilities. In this field new methods have been developed with improved apparatus and better training techniques for operators. Mayors and councils of cities, towns and villages should see to it that their citizens have the most up to date fire safeguards obtainable.

New street materials which will reduce glare and skidding are the great need if accidents are to be substantially reduced, says a midwestern coroner whose professional duties make traffic crashes a large part of his day's work. Evidently he lacks faith that much improvement can be effected with the human element.

Isn't it queer that atoms, the smallest things in the world, can make so much trouble?

THE SAD CASE OF DEMOCRACY AND CAPITALISM

Dislike For 'Ham and Eggs' Art Expressed By President Truman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — President Truman is strictly a conservative when it comes to modern art. "Ham and eggs" art he calls the paintings of the surrealists, the futurists, and the cubists. The chief executive wants his art down-to-earth and easy to understand. He likes it to be beautiful, not shocking, and to represent something.

Reporters saw an example of the art Mr. Truman loves recently, when he gave them a private showing of "The Peacemakers"—a painting by George Healy which the president had purchased for the White House for $10,000.

He confided to newsmen that a New York art dealer originally had asked $18,000 for it, but he argued him down to $10,000.

Mr. Truman had called in art experts from the National Gallery, who estimated the paintings to be worth about $50,000—a good buy, the President thought, and bought it.

While in his office, newsmen were shown some of the art the chief executive despises most. He produced a spread of modern paintings from a magazine, which apparently he had been saving for just such an occasion.

"This is what I mean by ham-and eggs art," he told the reporters, pointing to a painting of a fat semi-nude circus performer.

"I've been to a million circuses, and I've never seen a performer who looked like her," he said. "The artist must have stood off from the canvas and thrown paint at it. If that's art, then I'm a Hottentot."

Sam Rayburn Has Fun.

Ex-Speaker Sam Rayburn had a whale of a good time at the White House recently, poking fun at the legislative program of the Republicans. He was nearly worked to death, he confided to friends, because the Republicans were passing so many bills.

"Let me see," counted up the rotund gentleman from Texas, "they passed one bill extending excise taxes and another joint resolution for Senator Butler's alcohol plant in Omaha. It keeps us very busy—very busy."

When asked if he were going to be the new ambassador to Great Britain, Sam replied: "Well, it will have to be one of us rich boys."

* * *

Brass Hats Fight Atom.

One thing to be said for the political generals in the Pentagon building is that they never do surrender easily—especially when it comes to a seige of Capitol Hill.

Actually, about one-half the undercover opposition to David Lilienthal as atomic commissioner comes from the brass hats. The rest comes from Senator Taft's determination not to let a New Dealer get appointed to any high office, with some quiet sideline help from the never-dormant public utilities lobby.

Real fact is that the Pentagon politicians have never forgiven congress for passing the McMahon Bill which put control of atomic energy in civilian rather than military hands.

And having lost that battle, they are determined to dominate selections of the civilians who sit on the civilian commission. So far Lilienthal and his carefully selected co-commissioners have shown that they cannot be dominated.

Most persuasive argument used by the brass hats in undercutting Lilienthal is that the civilian commission would leak the atom's secret.

Paradoxical fact, however, is that 90 per cent of the so-called atom's secret was contained in the now famous Smythe report which the army itself released to the public just after Hiroshima. And the man responsible for the release was none other than Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, the gentleman who so vigorously opposed civilian control of the atom.

After the Smythe report was out and horrified scientists called attention to the secrets it contained, Groves hurriedly demanded that it be recalled.

"That," replied a member of his staff, "would be like trying to put and egg back into a chicken."

* * *

Who Discovered A-bomb?

Regardless of whether General Groves made a mistake in releasing the Smythe report, the fact remains that the A-bomb was not entirely an American invention. It was discovered by scientists working in America, but among the top men were Hungarians, Germans, Norwegians, Danes, Italians, Poles and Frenchmen. The United States was wise enough and humane enough to be the freest country in the world where they could take refuge and continue their scientific work.

Actually, the army pooh-poohed the idea of the A-bomb when it was first put up to them. And it was the traditional American policy of freedom and humanity, not the military, which caused us to get the bomb ahead of anyone else. It is this same policy—rather than military control—which will also keep us ahead of other nations.

What scientists point out is that we can't shut our eyes and pretend that science can be stopped. Most European countries already had 70 percent of the atom secret before the first bomb was dropped on Hiroshima.

Today, at least four countries—Canada, England, France and Sweden—have atomic energy piles producing uranium 235—the material from which the bomb is made. They lack only the mechanism for setting it off.

About Russia we know little, but suspect a lot.

Our defense against foreign A-bombs, therefore, is to keep working in the laboratories building larger weapons, taking advantage of our own headstart.

We have already lost our bomb "monopoly," but we do not need to lose our scientific headstart. Today, we already have a bomb 600 times more powerful than that dropped on Hiroshima. However, because the brass hats still control a large section of the atomic laboratories, many top scientists like Leo Szilard refuse to work on government projects. It was Szilard who wrote the first paper on atomic energy which Einstein forwarded to Roosevelt and which really started Gen. Groves' much publicized Manhattan Project.

That is why the fog which the brass hats and certain badly informed McKellars and Wherrys are spraying around Capitol Hill may prove the worst blow scientific development of the atom has yet seen.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Feb. 18, 1927.

Police were continuing to seek solution of murder of Ethel Dudley, which occurred Feb. 3, 1920.

Inter-club bridge tournament concluded, with Irvin Elsass and J. J. Jones of the Mystic club as top scoring players.

Three liquor cases involving Mansfield men were heard in court of Justice Harry A. Palm, Washington township.

Dr. Minor C. Baldwin, nationally known concert organist, gave recital at St. John's Evangelical church.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hoffman, 86 Spring street.

Miss Rose Leiter gave talk on Lincoln and Washington at party for Friendly House English classes, of which she was an instructor.

Chamber of Commerce was organized at Shiloh, with Roland R. Howard as first president.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On Feb. 18, 1873, the Constitution of Indiana was amended to prevent the state being made liable for stock issued in 1846 for the Wabash and Erie canal.

Dave Boone Says:

MOSCOW has sent a note to Washington protesting against a charge by our under secretary of state that Russian foreign policy is aggressive. Joe Stalin is getting fed up on "understatements" like that, I guess.

* * *

This is National Brotherhood week. Its purpose is to "enroll" all Americans in a drive against intolerance. It's a noble purpose, commanding the support of everybody; but more than an "enrollment" is necessary. That's the kind of word they use in Apple weeks.

* * *

We need a 52-week campaign without a semblance of ballyhoo and with straight-from-the-shoulder blasting — in every church, synagogue and state house in America—of the smear technique which has gone so far in this land.

* * *

The number one aim of Brotherhood week might well be to restore the ancient mood in which Americans, even in moments of high feeling and disagreement, could show restraint, charity and a little humility toward the other fellow.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

No Protection Against Mud-Slinging Tactics.

WASHINGTON — During the past week-end, a Washington promoter was sentenced to 90 days in jail and fined $250 after being convicted of contempt of congress.

The charge was failing to provide personal records demanded for inspection by a congressional investigating committee.

In passing sentence, the judge said:

"The power of congress to investigate is vital. It must be affirmatively upheld, for it is necessary in our plan of government."

There are few citizens who would disagree with the judge's point of view, or dispute the verdict in that particular case.

But there are several legal observers lounging around on Capitol Hill nowadays who are beginning to wonder just how far congressional investigations can go without violating the Constitutionally - guaranteed rights, freedoms and privacy of the individual citizen.

As things now stand, the average private citizen may be called before a congressional committee on the merest hearsay, handed along until it reaches some member's ears.

He can not refuse to appear, without risking being in contempt of congress. Yet, once he appears before that committee, he is so stripped of legal armor that he stands more unprotected against unfair and unfounded charges than any thief or murderer in any court in the land!

He has neither defense nor offense against incriminating innuendo or damaging accusations, for his questioners remain invulnerable in the immunity of their congressional roles.

Thus, he can not fight back . . . He can not force them to substantiate their charges, prove their implications—or even identify the sources of their so-called information.

Giving congressional committees such powers had its obvious purpose, as the judge stated, in assuring them of gaining every scrap of information before passage of vital laws or confirming equally vital executive appointments.

But certainly it never was intended to turn congressional committee rooms into mud-slinging arenas for the fighting of old political battles—or for the persecution of unprotected private citizens. And, sometimes that seems to be happening.

Spend a day in some committee rooms, and then talk to witnesses outside afterwards—witnesses who were charged with no misdoing whatever but were merely called to give information.

You hear angry mutters:

"The way he asked questions, I'll bet everybody thinks I've got a prison record—and I've never even had a traffic ticket! Who does he think he is!

"Asking me if I'd ever had any trouble with my books! Sure I have. What bookkeeper hasn't?. .But he made it sound like I was. .an embezzler or something." . . .

Somehow, you doubt that early American statesman ever intended congressional committee power to be used for such a purpose.

3. No. His title was bestowed upon him for his services on the staff of a governor of Vermont.

Timely Editorial

Courtesy Wins Praise.

American tourists in other lands may have a few things to learn in the way of politeness, but the average American executive or tradesman can give pointers in business courtesy to the rest of the world. That is the verdict of Norwegian American Commerce, a monthly bulletin published by the Norwegian American Chamber of Commerce. Remarks the editor, "Americans are tops where promptness, graciousness and an earnest desire to please will aid pleasant business relations," and he proceeds to contrast these habits with the "slovenly regard for basic business courtesies" which he finds to prevail in other countries.

Such comments are most gratifying. At the same time it is regretiable to realize how easily the favorable impression created by our businessmen can be wiped out in many cases by the conduct and attitude of a few American travelers abroad. — St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Secrecy Surrounds Committee Hearings.

WASHINGTON—The two functions of congress in which the citizen perhaps most directly is interested are the levying of taxes upon him and the designation of the purposes for which the money so raised is to be spent.

Under the Constitution, both tax and appropriations bills must originate in the house, ostensibly because this is the body supposedly closest to the people. Tax bills are framed by the house ways and means committee, in the first instance, and supply or appropriations bills by the appropriations committee.

It would be deduced that the procedures in formulation of these bills, that is, the arguments for and against certain types of taxes and for and against certain types of expenditures, would be public.

This is because the public is so directly affected and because the people are given the power through their representatives in congress to control the purse strings.

In the past it has been customary to hold public hearings on tax bills, but not on appropriations bills on which hearings have been "executive" or secret. This has made for little general information on what is one of the most important jobs of congress.

It was but natural that when congress finally decided to do something about reorganizing and modernizing its procedures, it should take notice of this situation. It did. In the La Follette-Monroney congressional reorganization act of the last congress, it provided:

"All hearings conducted by standing committees or their subcommittees shall be open to the public, except executive sessions for marking up bills, or for voting, or where the committee by a majority vote orders an executive session."

This is a minimum, for there are those who thought that all votes, too, should be made public. The exception for closing a session by majority vote was intended chiefly for extraordinary occasions, such as during the last war, when a committee was considering confidential matters relating to national security. Such occasions are rare in peacetime.

But, despite the solemn agreement by congress for open committee hearings, the Republican leadership already is violating this approved public procedure.

Not only has it continued secret sessions on appropriations bills, but the ways and means committee has decided to hold secret hearings on the proposed new tax bill, contrary to custom.

There is already much controversy, both in congress and out, about the proposed 20 per cent reduction in income taxes. Yet the arguments, including discussion as to method of making the cut, who is to be affected and so on, are to be in secret.

Beyond that, the Republican leadership obviously intends to bring out whatever bill it adopts under a strict rule that would permit no amendments from the house floor.

Open hearings are equally essential on appropriation measures which prescribe how our tax money is to be spent.

Now, with a reduction in expenditures coming, it is essential that the public should know what is being done and how it is being done.

Survey of U. S. Natural Resources Advised.

WASHINGTON — In his annual report to the president, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug recommended a survey of America's mineral resources. The purpose would be to find out how nearly this country is dependent on foreign supply for minerals vital to our industrial life.

In other words, we would face up to the facts. We would determine how close we are to becoming a have-not nation.

Certainly the old days of squander and waste are over. During World War II, we poured out our resources with prodigal disregard for the future. We had a war to win. But now is the time for an accounting.

The iron of the Mesabi range that once seemed an inexhaustible store is running out. One group of geologists insists that our oil supply is within twenty years of exhaustion. Our reserves of other metals besides iron are dangerously low.

A thorough survey, Krug said in his report, would cost about a billion dollars spread over a period of twenty years. Some explanation of this figure is necessary. In preparing estimates of constructive government spending in the event of a business depression, the president's Council of Economic Advisers asked the Bureau of Mines and the Geological Survey to present maximum figures.

The billion dollars includes a thorough inquiry into ways for refining low-grade ores. It includes many other items not essential to a survey. Krug and his assistants find that this figure can be drastically revised downward and still be sufficient to give the nation and honest and thorough accounting of the real wealth that is left to us.

Such a survey should be conducted under conditions of strict objectivity. Whenever I have mentioned in this column the fact that certain vital ores are dwindling, letters of protest have come from the west. The writers invariably insist that we have a plentiful supply of whatever mineral they happen to have a stake in.

More often than not, they are talking about low-grade ores, they represent in many instances our last reserves. They should be kept underground as a stockpile safe from exploitation.

In the past, a warm controversy has centered around the volume of our petroleum reserves.

Only an objective government survey can end these arguments, and we as citizens are entitled to know the right answers so we can safe-guard our interests.

Anyone who thinks this is a trivial matter that can be put over for a few years, or forgotten, had better wake up. In the Soviet Union, 10,000 geologists are taking part in the search for minerals as part of the five-year plan.

We have lived for so long on the abundance of this rich continent, with its wealth of forests, mines and soil, that we cannot realize another age is here.

But how we must learn quickly, and one way to learn is through the kind of objective survey that has been proposed. That will go beyond prejudice and special interest to the core of truth on which we must base our national policy for the future.

Farmer's Diary: "Emphasis On Speed."

I LISTENED to an automobile salesman, pointing out the merits of a car to an interested ex-service man. He compared the new streamlined type that he had on the clean white sales floor with what he called "pre-war models." He explained the new type radio installation, the improved heater, the automatic gear shift, the width of seats and finer quality of upholstering. He pointed to the tires and said they'd run a hundred thousand miles. Two sets would last the full lifetime of the car.

Then he shifted to SPEED. His prospect was a young ambitious GI. "This car will roll a hundred on any open road without the slightest injury to moving parts. It's built that way. You see that's why the center of gravity is so low—like ballast on a ship. Think of it! A matter of 20 hours to Florida, 30 hours to California, with two drivers."

"Whoa!" said the young man. "I've landed in the states just three weeks ago. After traveling all over Europe, I'm much more interested in seeing our own land. And I want to travel in something I'm proud to own . . . my dad will help finance me . . . now if I could have this one . . ."

The salesman conferred with the manager for some time. Returned to say it could be arranged. "Talk about speed!" ejaculated the other.

I mused, as I went on, that the emphasis on SPEED is a very vital factor to be reckoned with. Speed in plane service, speed in freight or passenger ship—rocket speed where the limit is the point where friction of the medium would consume the fast-moving missile.

Streamlining is built into every type of modern progress from children's toys to church spires—from ocean liners to prefabricated homes. Yet with all this strange passion for speed, just coming to birth in the minds of men, the earth rolls on as it did out of silent chaos, more than a thousand miles per hour upon its axis. The speed of light, 186 thousand miles pe second — only exceeded by th speed of thought.

Have we lost our sense o values? Is the public mind out of balance? How shall each one find out what his life is most fit for, and know the joy of heart that comes with pursuing that gift?

Instead of the too passionate interest in speed of mechanical devices—let us think awhile of the eternal verities that give balance and meaning to everyday affairs, and bring peace and happiness to the generations of the future. Let us leave the noisy babble of the rocky shallows, and linger to capture the blessing of "green pastures" and "still waters."

Miss Payton Repeats Vows To Delbert Lee Poston

The former Miss Corinne Mabel Payton, 177 West First street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loran T. Payton, Ontario, became the bride Feb. 8, of Delbert Lee Poston, 151 North Walnut street. Mr. Poston is the son of Mrs. Mary Poston, of the Walnut street address, and Edward Poston, Fifth avenue.

The Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell officiated at the pretty candlelight service in the First English Lutheran church. Red roses and ferns in large baskets decorated the altar. Organ music was provided by Miss Elizabeth Burneson and Miss Joan Brandt was the soloist.

Miss Payton, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a pale pink wool suit with pink and black accessories. Her gold heart locket was a gift from the bridegroom. Apple-blossom freesias composed her corsage.

MRS. DELBERT L. POSTON

Miss Esther Smith was maid of honor and her suit was of powder blue. She wore a corsage of tuberroses and freesias. Miss Joyce Payton, sister of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. She wore an aqua suit and a corsage of yellow daffodils.

Dean Sams, served as best man and ushers were Chalmer Payton and Noel Payton, brothers of the bride, and Harold Hammer.

Mrs. Payton chose a black suit with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. She wore a corsage of pink gladioli. Mrs. Poston was attired in a gray suit with white accessories and a purple iris corsage.

A reception for the bridal party, families of the couple, and close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the attractive refreshment table. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas VanMeter, Wayne, Mich., were out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Payton was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school in 1943 and is employed as receptionist at Lumbermens Insurance Co. Her husband is a graduate of Madison high school and served two years in the South Pacific. He is now employed by the Empire Steel Corp.

The couple is at home at 170 East Second street.

Harold McCune Talks to Club Group Monday

Monday Study club members and guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. S. Ross, Davis road, yesterday, with Harold McCune as the speaker.

Mr. McCune told of current Broadway dramas and musical comedies, illustrating several of them with records.

"In my opinion," McCune said, "'The Song of Norway' is the best current musical comedy."

He also mentioned the continuous success of the Edna Ferber musical comedy, "Show Boat," a favorite for many years.

Mrs. Paul Weir, president of the club, welcomed the 29 members and their guests. Later, Mrs. Carlton Fernyak and Mrs. Weir poured coffee at the beautifully appointed table, centered with a flat arrangement of white roses flanked by tall white tapers.

Mrs. George Gaalaas, West Third street, will be the hostess for the next club meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Cook Gives Club Talk

Mrs. John W. Cook spoke on the subject, "Seeing America through the short story," before members of the Round Table club yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club.

Mrs. Cook developed her theme by speaking of regional writers of America and divided the country into eight divisions. These included: the cornerstone states, the low country, and the up country, the deep south, north of the Ohio, the Pacific west, the land of the lakes and the prairies, the corn lands and the southwest or the border country.

She reviewed a short story written about each of these groups, showing the outstanding characteristics in the life as lived in each.

Dr. Ada Ford acted as chairman of the meeting and Mrs. Ben F. Hagelbarger, vice president, welcomed the 16 members and two guests in the absence of the president. Guests were Mrs. Charles Fox and Miss Clare Tomlinson of Washington, D. C.

The program for the session on March 3, will be a "town meeting with Mrs. Philip Wolfe as chairman, and the program committee will include Mrs. J. B. Lindley, jr., chairman, Mrs. Howard N. Keene, Dr. Z. W. Averill, and Miss Grace Wolcot. They will discuss the "Palestinian Question."

The meeting will open with a commonwealth luncheon at the Women's Club.

Skin Treatment Important When Chill Winds Start to Blow

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Beauty Editor

The chill winds and icy blasts of winter bombard smooth fall complexions and there is not much you can do about it except pray for an early spring.

No matter how much time and effort you put into preparing for an outdoor session, even if it is only a short walk to the bus or subway which takes you to your job, the cold weather will take its toll of your skin.

But preparedness can help a bit and when you have had an outdoor session of skiing, ice skating or sleigh riding you can do a few things which may help prevent painful chapping.

Before you leave your warm house spread a light creamy lotion over your face and leave it on a few minutes. If it is one of the kind that also substitutes for a powder base leave it on and powder over it. But if it must be removed, use a foundation cream before applying your makeup. Some girls find the oily liquid foundations are their best bet when winter winds howl, as the oil affords some protection against the cold.

Your lips may chap unless you use a lipstick and add a bit of baby oil or vegetable oil. If they chap or feel tender in spite of these administrations, use a camphorated oil or a camphor chap stick of some kind.

If you are planning a big date and feel you need all the fixin's, leave your mascara and rouge off until you arrive at your destination. In cold weather mascaraed lashes have a tendency to bead together and it will be much more difficult and take more time to patch them up later than it will if you leave the whole job to do at one time.

ORDER EASTERN STAR

Ruth Chapter No. 17, O. E. S. met Monday night at the Masonic Temple for a regular business session and initiation. Mrs. Helen Adams, Worthy Matron, presided for both.

Guests were welcomed from five chapters from neighboring towns. A donation to the March of Dimes of Dimes was approved by the group.

The next meeting will be March 3, at the Temple. A surprise party is planned to follow the meeting.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. R. H. Zerby, 262 Wood street, entertained Friday evening at her home in celebration of her husband's birthday. Mr. Zerby was surprised by 10 guests who spent a social evening in games and contests. Valentine appointments were used when refreshments were served.

Gives $200 for Training of Hospital Nurse

Decision to allot $200 for the training of a nurse at Mansfield General hospital was made last night at a meeting of the hospital guild of Women of the Moose in the Moose Home.

The business meeting was preceded by a covered dish dinner for which George Washington birthday appointments were used. Later, games were played and the monthly prize won by Mrs. Andrew DeCapio, who turned it over to the honored guest, Miss Shirley Ernsberger. Other prize winners were Mrs. Paul Ritchie and Mrs. George Loch.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Alex Hamilton and Mrs. Gertrude Faulkner.

At the meeting on March 20, also to beld in the Moose Home, hostesses will include Mrs. John Bernat and Mrs. DeCapio.

Alpha Xi's Hear Betty Newton

Miss Betty Newton, Home Service director of the Mansfield Gas Co., spoke to sorority sisters, members of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae, Monday on "Ideas to Give Your Parties a Flourish."

Mrs. Wallace Firestone presided at a short business meeting and appointed several committees. Mrs. J. R. Harrington will head the telephone committee and Mrs. Paul Eliot will keep a scrap book of the organization's activities. Mrs. Firestone also appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Eliot and Mrs. John Strawn. New officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Two new members, Miss Carol Conrad and Mrs. Walden Kenyon, were welcomed before the group was served a buffet luncheon. The table was decorated with red and white carnations and red, white and blue candles twisted to give a three-branch candelabra effect. Mrs. James R. Martin presided at the serving table.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Harrington, 411 Davis road. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Richard Wolford, Sturges avenue, on March 17.

OLDER YOUTH FELLOWSHIP.

Following the regular meeting of the Older Youth Fellowship of the First Methodist church a party was given Sunday night by Miss Phyllis Alguire at her home, Park avenue west road.

A musical contest was featured and the winner was Miss Shirley Bauer. Hearts were the diversion for the remainder of the evening.

Refreshments were served at a table appointed in pink and white. The next meeting will be Sunday evening at the Parish House.

NITE LARK CLUB.

Twelve members and one guest of the Nite Lark club met Friday with Mrs. B. C. Mawhorn as hostess. Mrs. Loran Matthes was the guest.

Prizes for contests held were won by Mrs. R. H. McGregor and Mrs. Lester Graham. Mrs. William Frontz received the door prize and Mrs. Matthes was awarded a guest prize. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be March 14, with Mrs. J. E. Fry, 235 East Eighth street, Ashland.

THEATER GUESTS

Women employes of the News-Journal were guests of Don Jacobs at the Ohio Theater last evening. Fourteen attended the showing of "Till the Clouds Roll By" and later were served refreshments.

Richard L. DePue Takes Miss Latimer as Bride

THE REV. ARTHUR F. LINDBECK, pastor of Mayflower Congregational church, officiated at the wedding of Miss Margaret Marie Latimer, 25 Douglas avenue, to Richard L. DePue son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. DePue sr., 456 Reed street, solemnized Feb. 16, in the couple's newly-furnished apartment, 500 Lexington avenue. Norris Latimer, 25 Douglas avenue, is a brother of the bride.

The fireplace was banked with ferns and palms with a large bouquet of gladioli and snapdragons.

Mrs. DePue wore a grey-blue suit with navy accessories and her corsage was of red rosebuds. Mrs. M. B. Robinson, Sandusky, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her suit was tan and she accented it with black accessories. Her corsage also was of red rose buds.

Mr. DePue's best man was Maynard Robinson, Sandusky, brother-in-law of the bride.

A light blue dress with black accessories was the choice of Mrs. DePue for her son's wedding. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Twenty guests were entertained at a reception at the Sky Club following the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with apple blossoms and a miniature bride and groom centered the serving table.

The bride attended Greenwich high school and her husband attended Mansfield Senior high school. He served two and one half years with the army. Both are employed by the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Kneeland-Ernst Rite Observed Friday, Feb. 14

The Central Methodist church provided the setting for the marriage of Mrs. Florence Kneeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernst, Ashland, to Sgt. Earl W. Tarvin, brother of Mrs. C. V. Schill, 191 Marlowe road. The single ring ceremony took place Feb. 14 at 3 p. m. with the Rev. J. Frank Stewart officiating in the presence of the immediate families and close friends.

A street length powder blue dress with brown accessories were chosen by the bride and her corsage was of white, fuchsia and iris colored orchids. Miss Orva Spafford, Ashland, was her only attendant. She wore a rose wool dress and black accessories.

Serving Sgt. Tarvin as best man was Carl Worst, Ashland.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schill. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Tarvin, Hamilton, were guests from out of town.

Sgt. and Mrs. Tarvin will live at 601 Claremont avenue, Ashland.

Mrs. Tarvin was graduated from Ashland high school and has been employed at the Star Telephone company in Ashland. Sgt. Tarvin served three and a half years with the army and has recently reenlisted as a recruiting sergeant for Ashland county.

HOMOGENIZATION - -
What It Means to You and to Your Family
Homogenization is a process which Isaly's use to mix the cream with the milk. This process produces milk that is superior to ordinary milk in these three ways:
- Homogenization mixes the cream evenly through the milk, making Homogenized Milk TASTE RICHER and CREAMIER than ordinary milk.
- Every serving of Homogenized Milk is UNIFORM, SMOOTH, DELICIOUS . . . right down to the last drop.
- Homogenized Milk is MORE NOURISHING, EASIER TO DIGEST, making it especially healthful for babies.

Homogenized Milk means a better tasting milk . . . a more nourishing milk . . . and a milk that more members of your family will really enjoy. Try it today.

Available at your grocery, Isaly Dairy stores and from your Isaly milkman. Phone 4217-6 for home delivery.

Why Children Like Homogenized Milk
Isaly's Homogenized Milk has become the favorite drink of many Mansfield children who previously disliked milk. Now, they like the rich, creamy flavor of Homogenized Milk, a flavor they know is the same in very glassful, whether the first or last poured from the bottle. In Homogenized Milk, the "cream line" is really at the bottom of the bottle, because the cream is mixed with the milk and never separates.
Let your children try Isaly's Homogenized Milk now.

Broadway

By Dorothy Kilgallen

This is the time of year when Broadway sounds like Hollywood. The Academy Awards are just a month in the distance, and the way the boys in the gilded beerhalls of the dazzle zone are speculating, debating, electioneering and taking bets, you would think Lindy's was Romanoff's and Times Square suddenly had moved to Rodeo dr.

Want to know who are going to be handed those golden statuettes? I don't know myself, but I'll be happy to tell you what the experts say. This is a consensus of smarties, insiders, ear-to-the-grounders.

Here (they say) are the winners:

Best picture: "The Best Years of Our Lives."

Best director: William Wyler.

Best actor: Jimmy Stewart.

Best actress: Olivia DeHavilland

Now I'll give you the IFS.

The boys around the big corner tables are sure that "The Best Years of Our Lives" will win hands down, IF the prize doesn't go to the "The Yearling." Those are the two contenders. The other three nominations don't mean much at all. In fact, most observers concede that "The Razor's Edge," a pretty dreary flicker, got on the list simply because 20th Century-Fox tried hard with it and spent a lot of money on it, and the nomination is a polite way of giving them "A for effort." If by any accident "The Razor's Edge" should win the Oscar, it would be the end of the Academy as a powerful influence because the public faith in the award system would be destroyed.

The experts have their reasons for believing the other two nominations haven't a chance. I quote them.

"Duel in the Sun' is a very good Western that doesn't come up to its ballyhoo.

As some wit said, 'It's "The Outlaw" in bad taste.'

"'It's a Wonderful Life' is a good picture, but nothing happened with it. It's limping at the box office."

Many things enter into the voting that have nothing to do with the merits of the films, of course—in that respect the Academy Awards are like any elections, any way. Sentiment counts. Politics counts. A picture is ruled out because the director is unpopular. A star is given an award this year because she didn't get it two years ago. That happened with Bette Davis. She should have won a statuette for her performance as Mildred in "Of Human Bondage", she didn't. So they gave it to her some seasons later for "Dangerous." Garbo, for years the nearest thing to Bernhardt on the screen, and one of the top box office names of all time, never got an Oscar. There could be only one reason: She was a recluse, and they knew she wouldn't attend the Academy dinner and pose smiling with her little gold man.

Ginger Rogers, on the other hand, did get an award. Not for a great performance, but for the transition from hoofer to fair actress.

This year Olivia DeHavilland is an odds-on favorite, and deservedly, because she gave two fine performances. The only nominee who could be considered close competition is Celia Johnson, the English actress in "Brief Encounter." Celia is Olivia's IF, and the decision is a delicate one. In Olivia's favor is sentiment: She's a home town girl, and the town would like to see her rewarded. But against her is politics: Hollywood is busily wooing British business these days, and the voters may be encouraged to give the prize to Miss Johnson for reasons of diplomacy, making her the first English performer to win an Oscar since Charles Laughton scored.

The wise ones feel Jimmy Stewart has the edge on all rivals in the best actor division, although his competition is the most genuine. He is up against Gregory Peck, Frederic March and Laurence Olivier. He is also up against Larry Parks, but no one who saw Parks' adequate performance in "The Jolson Story" considers him competition.

Gregory Peck has given so many splendid performances in good pictures that most people in the industry feel he is due recognition. Frederic March's job in "The Best Years" was admittedly fine. Laurance Olivier's portrayal of "Henry V" won accolades.

But the IF in Olivier's chances is that he's English, and the IF in Frederic March's chances is that Sam Goldwyn isn't too popular in Hollywood at this point because he's been "sounding off," and certain quarters don't want him to win all the prizes, and the IF in Gregory Peck's chances is that ol' sentiment again. Jimmy Stewart is a well-loved fellow in Hollywood. He's been at it longer than Greg and he's 40 years old now and he had a wonderful war record. The Oscar is the nearest thing to the Congressional Medal of Honor that Hollywood can give him.

Now you know the inside. Draw your own conclusions. My ouija board is out of order.

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

SO MANY women seem to be prancing around in slacks today, and so few of them look as if they should wear them, a critical male complained to this department. He said flatly that size 16 should be the limit and that it would be well for women to remember that it's the "going-away view" that counts.

That is the test proper of course, so today's exercises are slanted toward the going-away view. But let's check into the size situation. The most popular sizes in slacks are 14 and 16. The salesgirl who passed along this information hastened to add that slacks come in large sizes and that she has plenty of calls for size 40 . . . and over. Now size 40 accommodates a 46-inch hip spread and a 34-inch waistline. Maybe there ought to be a limit in slack sizes, at that.

But the big problem with slacks on any size figure is the fact that the gluteus maximus, that rather massive muscle on the back of the hips, is naturally fleshier on a woman's figure than on a man's figure. Most women are not ideally built for slacks. Only slim girls with long waists and narrow hips can wear them well. The average figure looks better in a slack outfit, one with a jacket. The jacket should be the same color as the slacks and should not end flush at the "equator," but should extend part way over the hips.

To cut a dashing figure in a slack suit, or in a spring suit, for that matter, the hips should not measure more than two inches larger than the bust. Any more hip inches call for exercise. Here they are:

For the figure that plumps out just below the waistline in back, the following rolling exercise is suggested:

Position: Lying on back, knees flexed and drawn up toward chest, arms out on floor at sides.

Movement: From that position, roll over to one thighline, back across the hips and over to the other thighline, maneuvering so as to bring the weight to bear on the bulge. Roll 20 counts, relax and roll 20 more.

A straight roll solves an all-around hip problem:

A straight roll solves an all-around hip problem:

Position: Lying on back on floor, legs straight down, arms arched overhead.

Movement: Roll smoothly across hips to one thighline, back across hips to the other thighline, slowly. Roll 25 counts, relax and continue 25 counts.

It's smooth—s-o—smooth!

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Feb. 19.

Excitement, difficulties and danger threaten this day, with great activity and high tension. Affairs should bring great tempo, but avoid erratic and turbulent moves. Under rigid control, there could be much progress or spectacular gain, in which there could be romance and adventure. Secrecy and subtlety are favorable in making contacts and agreements. But use this technique wisely.

On the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be caught on a whirlwind of excitement and high pressure. To move with turbulence, emotions and impulses, or erratically, will have power to defeat splendid prospects which might advance with radical change, great adventure and drama. But while changes are imminent, they should be engineered with exceptional skill and precaution. Intrigue and secret agreements could be executed with safety.

A child born on this day may have an exciting, thrilling life, with great changes and adventure. It may lose high objectives by erratic impulses or wayward acts.
